Berlin Arrests, Then Releases Four Americans

Newsman and Three Others Freed After Questioning.

By the United Press.
BERLIN, Thursday, April 3.—Four United States citizens were arrested and held for several hours late yesterday in what German criminal police admitted might have "some connection with German reprisals" for the United States seizure of Axis ships in American ports.

All of the arrests were connected with passport regulations, authorized German quarters stated.

The possibility of the confiscation of United States property in Germany in reprisal for the seizure of Axis ships in United States ports meanwhile was rumored in political quarters.

"It is not absolutely impossible that the arrests had some connection with reprisals against the confiscation of German ships," the Nazi criminal police admitted, referring to the case of three of the four Americans seized and held in custody for several hours.

But the case of the fourth, John Paul Dickson, a newspaper man from New York, was said to be "quite different."

All of the four have been long-time residents of Germany.

Dickson was the last of the quartet to obtain his release, after being held from 8:30 until 10:30 p. m.

The others seized on the passport charges were Arthur E. Dunning, permanent secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Berlin; a Negro music student from New York named Welsh and an unidentified young man whose home is in California.

The four were taken to the Alexanderplatz police station. Dunning, Welsh and the Californian, arrested Wednesday afternoon, were held and questioned about three hours.

Dunning said he was arrested at 4:35 p. m. at his home by two uniformed German police men.

"I was told to pack a bag and prepare to spend at least two or three days away from home," the Chamber of Commerce official said.

Brazil Protests Nazi Bombing of Freighter

The 5,099-ton freighter was reported bombed by German planes 100 miles northwest of Port Said. One man was killed and three wounded. The ship continued her voyage to Alexandria.

County Budget Set; $789,320 Given Relief

Added Levies Planned for Hospitals and Special Benefits.

Fulton county commissioners yesterday formally adopted a budget calling for 1941 expenditures amounting to $4,887,823 and at the same time voted to operate county relief on the same basis as in 1940, when relief costs were $789,320.

A levy of two mills will be fixed for direct relief measures, with financing of hospital and special benefits raised from separate levies. The commission construed the law to permit setting up of the two-mill levy.

Automatic Reduction.

The relief millage this year automatically reduced from 2.75 mills of 1940 to two mills for 1941 by a resolution of the Fulton March-April grand jury when that body failed to agree with a decision of the January-February grand jury that a 2.75 mills levy was advisable.

In a discussion of the grand jury action, County Attorney Hughes Spalding told The Constitution Tuesday night that the commission could not legally levy more than the maximum of 1.25 mills as the law stands when two successive grand juries fail to concur on the relief levy. He was not present at yesterday's meeting, being out of town on a vacation trip, and the commission construed grand jury action to permit a two-mill levy.

Relief Resolution.

A resolution, presented by Commissioner Charlie Brown and unanimously adopted, called for relief expenditures not in excess of money spent for such purposes in the county during 1940.

The entire commission agreed that it would be necessary to make use of the extra levies for hospitals and special benefits, such as old age assistance, aid to the blind and dependent children.

In presenting the budget as drafted for 1941, County Auditor James L. Respass told the commission he had received departmental requests for $217,000 more than it was possible to budget for.

"I had to scale down the budget to comply with the law," Respass said.

It was pointed out that total county expenses during 1941 would approximate $5,632,500. However, $726,182 of that amount will go to finance schools and an additional $18,494 it is estimated will be realized on receipts not classified as normal revenues.

A breakdown of estimated departmental disbursements under the adopted budget, which, commissioners said yesterday were subject to change throughout the year, follows:

Superior court, civil	$8,000
Superior court, criminal	145,440
Criminal court	65,840

$550,000 Is Given To Emory Hospital

Gift of $550,000 to the Emory University School of Medicine for constructing and equipping a surgical wing of the hospital was announced yesterday by the executive committee of Emory.

The Joseph B. Whitehead Foundation is the donor, and the new building will be known as the Conkey Pate Whitehead Surgical Pavilion. Its purposes, as stated by the Foundation, are "to provide improved facilities for the care and treatment of patients; to enable the University School of Medicine, through the Joseph B. Whitehead Chair of Surgery, to stimulate surgical research and to improve the profession of surgery throughout the south; and likewise to alleviate the sufferings of mankind."

The building will house the Department of Surgery of the School of Medicine, of which Dr. Daniel C. Elkin, who occupies the Joseph B. Whitehead Chair of Surgery, is the head. This professorship was endowed recently by substantial gifts from the same Foundation as a memorial to the late Joseph B. Whitehead.

The latest gift brings the total of the Foundation's benefactions in the Atlanta area to more than $1,000,000. For several years it has made generous gifts to charitable institutions here.

Announcement of the gift came to the Emory trustees this week in a letter from Mrs. Lettie P. Evans, chairman of the board of trustees of the Foundation.

Mrs. Evans, widow of the late Joseph B. Whitehead, has taken an active interest in the charitable and educational work of the Foundation.

Firm Appeals To President To End Picketing

Coal Miners, Operators Make Truce in Harlan Area.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 2.—(UP)—The Milwaukee County CIO Council tonight voted a full holiday Friday for 65,000 Congress of Industrial Organizations members as a "show of strength" in connection with the 11-week-old strike of the United Automobile Workers against the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing plant.

By the Associated Press.
Swift mediation efforts in the strike paralyzing the Ford Motor Company's great River Rouge plant brought a "plan for settlement" last night soon after state police were stationed in the plant area.

Federal Mediator James H. Dewey, two hours after stepping out of a plane on a hurried flight here, announced the "plan." It was attained in a 90-minute conference with Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and CIO officials.

Meanwhile state troopers patrolled the suburban Dearborn district, a scene of intermittent violence earlier in the day, but with great numbers of the thousands of pickets and sympathizers withdrawn, there was no indication of further trouble.

Appeal to F. D. R.

Dewey's announcement, on which he did not elaborate, climaxed rapidly developing events including a Ford company request for President Roosevelt to aid in stopping "terroristic mass picketing" and the Governor's order for troops.

The strike was called by the United Automobile Workers (CIO) shortly after midnight Tuesday. At 8:05 o'clock last night Dewey, leaving a conference room in a downtown Detroit hotel, made his announcement to newspapermen.

"A plan has been evolved for settlement," he said.

Although Dewey declined to say more, his statement was interpreted to mean that the UAW-CIO leaders had agreed with him on a definite program.

Five Represent Ford.

Conferees had included August Schoole, state director of the CIO, and Walter Reuther, member of the international executive board of the UAW-CIO.

At 9:15 p. m., a committee of five representing the Ford company entered the hotel suite of

Blitzkrieg Units Poised To Strike at Yugoslavs

Nazi Line Forms in 50 Miles of Belgrade.

BELGRADE, April 3.—(Thursday)—(AP)—Formidable concentrations of German motorized blitzkrieg units were reported in diplomatic messages early today to be stationed in Rumania just across the frontier from the Yugoslav town of Bela Crkva.

That border point is less than 50 miles from Belgrade and is near the Danube river.

The report caused alarm in the capital because it would be one of the logical points from which the Germans might launch an attack on Belgrade itself.

Other diplomatic dispatches said fast German divisions were massing near Szeged, in southern Hungary across from Yugoslavia.

War Seen Certain.

Although a new Serb-Croat understanding was reported to have been reached, consolidating the Yugoslavian internal situation, the chances of war were seen by diplomats as greater than ever.

This was notwithstanding attempts of the Italians to stave it off by what the diplomats called feeble maneuvering.

The Italians were said to be attempting to get Premier General Simovic to go to Rome and seek Premier Mussolini's "aid" toward appeasing Adolf Hitler.

This, said circles close to the government, General Simovic refuses to do.

The Italian desire to stave off

Building Boom Is Heralded in Fulton County

March Permits Almost Equal 1940 First Quarter Grants.

Fulton county building permits issued during the month of March were within a few dollars of grants issued during the entire first quarter of 1940, heralding an unprecedented building boom here, according to records in the office of Frank B. Eaves, county building inspector.

A total of 142 permits for a combined value of $865,991 were granted through Eaves' office during the month.

While Eaves was computing the huge gains in Fulton county building activity for the month of March, A. C. McDaniel, assistant city building inspector, released figures showing that 245 permits for construction valued at $439,241 were granted for work inside Atlanta city limits.

Combined Fulton county and city of Atlanta construction for March stood at the $1,305,232 level.

The 1941 value of construction in Fulton county for the quarter was placed at $1,859,747 on the basis of the 343 permits issued. This compares with 278 permits for work valued at $882,438 for the first quarter of 1940. The March, 1941, permit value of $865,991, contrasts with 140 permits valued at $497,263 for March, 1940.

Among the large investments recorded in Fulton county for March were the Cluett-Peabody plant, $100,000; additions to the North Fulton high school, $74,674, and three large apartments, valued at $159,217.

Dwellings or apartments will be provided for 146 new families when completed.

In Atlanta, the quarterly figures for this year showed that 624 permits were issued for construction valued at $1,149,649, as compared to 646 permits valued at $1,782,107 for the first quarter last year. McDaniel, however, said the lower figure for this year is accounted for by the fact that several low-cost housing projects were cleared in the first quarter last year.

The $439,241 value of permits issued for March, this year, compares with $450,341 for the same month last year.

Cloudy and Cooler

Forecast for Today

Too good to last!

That's the situation with the weather in Atlanta, as the weatherman predicted for Atlanta today mostly cloudy and cooler—with occasional rain in the afternoon.

Temperature extremes yesterday were 48 and 73 degrees. The maximum was the highest recorded since last November 22 when 73 degrees was also registered. The minimum today is expected to be 50 degrees.

Atlanta Police To Launch War On Vice, Lotteries, Bootleggers

The Atlanta police department, backed by state and county law enforcement agencies, will get the "go" signal tonight for a concerted sustained and intensive drive against lottery, bootleg liquor, and vice from the police committee at a meeting to be held at the police station.

Following a series of conferences concluded yesterday, the committee tonight will order police officers to go after violators and "clean up the city."

The action is scheduled as the culmination of a series of off-the-record discussions between police committee members, headed by Alderman G. Dan Bridges and other law enforcement officers, including Solicitor General John A. Boykin, Sheriff J. C. (Mott) Aldredge, County Police Chief George Mathieson, Bond Almand, solicitor of the criminal court of Fulton county; County Commissioner Gloer Hailey, chairman of the committee's police committee.

Major John Goodwin, commander of the state patrol, also has pledged his services and the full co-operation of his department.

In order that the Atlanta police may pursue lottery and liquor cars outside the city limits and may assist in raiding suspected lottery headquarters, five members of the lottery and liquor squad have been sworn in as state officers and have the right to

Billy Mitchell's Sister Joins Revolutionary Serb Guerrillas

By ROBERT ST. JOHN.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 2.—(AP)—Ruth Mitchell, who identified herself as a sister of the late American flyer, General "Billy" Mitchell, was sworn in today as the first foreign woman ever to join the revolutionary death-defying Comitaji.

She was given a phial of poison, because the Comitaji boasts that no member is ever taken alive, and was made a member of the general staff as a dispatch rider for Kosta Pecanec, the white-bearded leader of the organization.

In the peasant hovel where he lives on the edge of Belgrade with the skeleton of one Comitaji hero, Pecanec received Miss Mitchell, former wife of an Englishman, and initiated her into the secrets of one of the strangest societies of men and women in the world.

(Mrs. Martin Fladoes, of Milwaukee, also a sister of the late American aviator, said her sister Ruth had been in Belgrade for about a year, and that her married name was Mrs. Stanley Knowles. She last heard of her by cable about two months ago.)

Dorothy Thompson Says:

Labor Now in Buyers' Market

Workers Following Law of Supply and Demand.

The labor situation in this country is a little more complicated than it appears to be to the average congressman.

For 12 years, now, there has been vast unemployment in the United States. A friendly pro-labor administration that is convinced that the maintenance of a relatively high wage level with commensurate purchasing power is good for business and good for stability, has, nevertheless, been unable to find work for several millions of men, particularly in the unskilled classes.

Now a huge defense program is actually creating a labor shortage. If labor, after 12 years in a seller's market with no buyers, suddenly finds itself in a buyer's market, it goes out for a raise. In other words, it acts the way any businessman acts, under the old "classical" law of supply and demand.

Labor unions have been in the doghouse in America throughout most of our history. With the Roosevelt administration, they got the best break they have ever had. There was a vast extension of organization, in a period of great strain, stress and depression. It came fast and it was fought at every step by many employers. That kind of development does not usually result in very enlightened leadership. The leaders get to the top who are tough and who can produce the goods.

This situation was further complicated by the fact that the no-

Axis Prepares for Reprisals Against U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(UP)—Germany and Italy lodged new protests today against United States seizure of 30 Axis ships concurrent with mounting indications that the dictator nations and this country soon may be embroiled in an economic war of reprisal.

Dispatches from abroad indicated the path was being cleared in both Germany and Italy for retaliatory measures.

Reliable sources said in Berlin—after four Americans had been arrested for questioning and released—that Nazi counteraction to the ship seizures will be announced tomorrow. One report circulated was that American property may be confiscated.

Observers here believed that if this happens the United States would retaliate by freezing millions of dollars of German investments in this country. Similar action probably would be taken against Italy if she adopted kindred tactics.

The struggle would involve millions. The United States has direct investments in Germany of $228,000,000, holdings of $165,000,000 in German bonds and $25,000,000 in short-term paper. Its investments in Italy consists of $70,000,000 in direct holdings and $73,000,000 in Italian bonds.

Germany has $100,000,000 invested in American stocks and bonds and $9,000,000 in short-term paper. Italy's holdings in America consist of $22,000,000 in stocks and bonds, $12,000,000 in direct investments and $22,000,000 in real estate, mortgages, etc.

There was no direct threat from Italy but the newspaper La Stampa, of Turin, said regarding the ship seizures that Italians "would not forget the knife in the back from Roosevelt and his band against Italy at one of the hardest moments of the struggle." There was no immediate indication, according to Berlin dispatches, that the arrest of four Americans, long resident in Germany, was in reprisal for the protective seizure of two German ships. The State Department had not received official reports on the incident early tonight, and withheld comment.

When the new Italo-German protests arrived department officials were in the process of drafting a rejection to earlier Axis demands that two German and 28 Italian ships and their crews be released.

The burden of the new protests was said to be that President Roosevelt, in ordering the ship seizure under the 1917 espionage act, did not invoke that portion of the law which authorizes the detention of crews. Thus, it was argued, the men are being detained illegally.

Germans Poise In Rumania for Yugoslav Blitz

war here was seen by some diplomats as prompted by Fascist fear that the Yugoslavs would invade northern Albania immediately and with the Greeks sweep Mussolini's forces into the Adriatic.

The Yugoslavs already have taken defense measures in the Adriatic was revealed when secretly sown Yugoslav mines sank two Yugoslav passenger liners in the Adriatic as the ships sped toward home ports in fear of war with the Axis.

The vessels were the 1,293-ton Karadjordje and the 1,726-ton Prestolonaslednik Petar. They went down in the Bay of Obrovac, 23 miles east and north of the Italian city of Zara, which is on the Dalmatian shore. All crewmen were saved.

The mining apparently had been carried out within the week.

For the second time in 24 hours the Berlin press and radio campaigns, reminiscent of those launched by Germany before the attack on Poland which began the war, brought a brief and firm government denial of charges of "atrocities."

The communiqué simply said "all reports of terrorism against the German minority are without foundation."

Another communiqué denied

Belin reports that music of German composers had been banned by the Yugoslav radio. It said works of Beethoven and Bach were being played constantly.

A statement that the Croat-Serb question had been settled was made by Dr. August Kosutic, emissary of the Croat leader, Valdimir Macek, as he prepared to return to Zagreb from Belgrade to report to Macek. Dr. Kosutic said Macek would come to Belgrade later today.

Explaining the government order against evacuation of cities and towns without permission, General Simovic said all persons who left their permanent homes for the provinces would be compelled to return.

The only travel permitted to the Yugoslavs henceforth will be for vital business reasons or for persons attempting to reach their permanent homes.

Giving further point to a declaration by the Croat peasant leader Vladimir Macek that chances of avoiding war with Germany were slight, Skoljpe had an air raid alarm when three foreign planes of undisclosed nationality scouted over that important southern city.

The planes remained high aloft and merely reconnoitered over the city, which lies in southern Yugoslavia, midway between Bulgaria and Albania in the militarily important Vardar river valley, but the townspeople were kept under cover for eight minutes.

"For all we know," remarked an official, "war may come to us any day this way."

An Italian legion spokesman disclosed that "certain conversations" with Yugoslav representatives—"intended to see if any possibilities existed for establishing contact between Belgrade and Rome"—had "attained no result and no negotiations are now in progress."

There had been rumors that Italy, against whose Albanian colony the Yugoslavs might move in case of war with the Axis, was trying to smooth matters between Premier Dusan Simovic, of Yugoslavia, and Hitler's agents.

The Yugoslav government, sending more troops to the northern and eastern frontiers in an action paralleling reports that the Nazis were moving many soldiers westward across Bulgaria, maintained its air of restraint under violent German press attacks.

The 60 diplomatic representatives of Germany, still remaining here—German Minister Von Heeren is in Berlin—clearly exhibited nervousness and set up a control system to keep the legion informed by the moment of the whereabouts of its employees.

For example, if an aide walks out to buy cigarettes the control officer at the legation must be notified by telephone of the time of departure, destination, route and approximate time of his expected return.

Both of the remaining German news agency correspondents have been made press attaches and thus given diplomatic privileges.

Four German legation buildings are stocked with food—in case. For the moment the Nazis still eat at public restaurants. But they no longer wear Nazi lapel emblems and the swastikas have been taken off their cars.

Belgrade Seizes Wheat. Newspaper dispatches received in Budapest, Hungary, reported that two Rumanian trains carrying wheat and oil to Italy were confiscated by the Yugoslav government. Balkan traffic to neutral Switzerland also was halted, the Swiss war office said.

In Istanbul, it was officially disclosed that President Inonu, of Turkey, had sent a message to young King Peter II, of Yugoslavia, congratulating him on the military coup which put him on the throne last week, put General Simovic in the premiership and ousted the government which had signed up in the German-Italian-Japanese Axis.

Newspapers in Turkey, a non-belligerent ally of the British, declared that by Yugoslavia's insistence upon retaining her independence the Nazis were being pushed toward war in the Balkans—a war they "did not want."

Insurance Is Paid Before Issuance

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
WAYCROSS, Ga., April 2.—An insurance suit in Waycross city court has brought to light unusual circumstances in the payment of an insurance claim.

Mrs. Eva Hinson, stepmother of Jimmy Hinson, who was shot to death near here in 1940, received payment of a $1,000 insurance claim before the policy actually had been issued.

An agent of the insurance company wrote an application for the $1,000 policy April 19. The physician's examination was made April 20. The applicant was killed April 28, after he had paid $4.31 and had received what was described as a "binding receipt."

The policy was issued June 1, after Hinson's death, and after the $1,000 premium was paid by the company.

British Victory Havoc Told by Italian Seamen

Two Ships Went Down Without Firing Shot, Survivors Say.

ATHENS, April 2.—(UP)—The Italian heavy cruiser, Fiume, and the destroyer Vittorio Alfieri went down in flames amid the frightful screams of its dying and wounded men without being able to fire a single shot in last Friday night's historic naval battle of the Ionian sea, one of the Fiume's 118 survivors said today.

(The story of the survivors represented the first concrete information that the Vittorio Alfieri, sister ship of the destroyer Vincenzo Giovinetti, which is known to have been sunk, went down in the British attack.)

"It wasn't really a naval battle; it was an Italian disaster," said the rescued Italian sailor. "Our ship sank without firing a single shot and the first we knew of the attack was when a torpedo hit our portside aft with a deafening explosion. I was up in the bow as one of the crew in the fire control."

"Flames shot up and then fumes blinded and suffocated us as we seized gas masks and fought through the tangled mass of wreckage and blackness, amidst the frightful screams of the wounded and dying."

Another of the 118 survivors of the Fiume, a 25-year-old Fascist from Rome, said the attack lasted only 10 minutes and the Fiume sank in 40 minutes.

"Trying to escape the deck, I was cut off and I found myself in a blazing companionway," the youth said. "I ran through flames and reached an emergency gun turret, where I found the crew killed, wounded and frightfully burned by the torpedo explosion."

"Then 15-inch British shells began to hit us, putting all our guns out of action. 'We could do nothing to prevent it and nothing to escape. The ship turned over starboard and I and others scrambled onto the keel and hung on until we slipped into the water as the stern dived under with hissing and gurgling.'

Investigation Of Food Prices Here Favored

Funds Sought in Congress for Check-Up in 9 Cities.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Constitution Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Approval by congress of an additional $750,000 fund recommended by the house appropriations committee today for expanding activities of the Department of Justice antitrust division will open the way for a grand jury investigation of food price increases in Atlanta and eight other cities of the country, Assistant Attorney General Thurman W. Arnold declared here tonight.

Arnold, in charge of the antitrust division, said he could not discuss plans for the Atlanta inquiry until the increased funds are granted. He admitted to The Constitution, however, that a number of complaints have been received by the department on apparently unwarranted food price increases in Atlanta.

In reporting the annual supply bill for the department of justice today the house appropriations committee gave the antitrust division an additional $750,000 for prosecuting investigations into food price increases.

Benefit of All.

"It is proposed to move vigorously into the fields of restraints of trade affecting foods," the appropriations committee report said, "and in so much as the entire populace are consumers of food any savings resulting from elimination of unfair trade prices in this field will inure to the benefit of all of our citizens. It is expected that approximately nine grand juries will go into this question of food restraints."

The committee went on to say that in 1940 the antitrust division won 32 antitrust cases and lost only two.

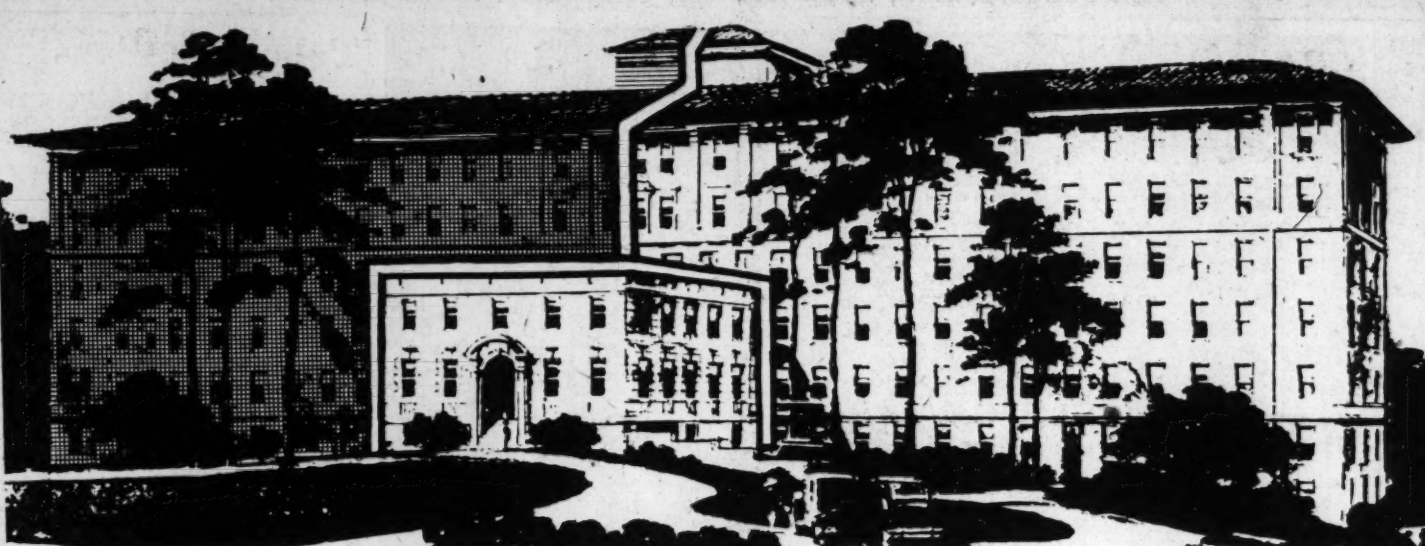

"Indicating the thoroughness with which the cases were planned," the report said, "the committee is confident that its action in increasing the budget estimate for this agency by three-quarters of a million dollars will meet with the enthusiastic approval of our citizenry."

First step of the Department of Justice after passage of the increased funds, Mr. Arnold said, will be to send investigators to Atlanta to co-operate with United States District Attorney Camp in preparing the groundwork for later grand jury action.

Testifying before the appropriations committee during executive hearings on the bill, which were made public for the first time today, Arnold said the department had 35 men now working on food cases, with 150 cases under investigation.

Five Indictments.

"There are 16 almost ready for presentation," he said. "There have been five indictments obtained. Now, let me show what was the effect of the indictments: 'At Denver, we indicted some grocers for conspiracy in using the state unfair practice act in such a way as to fix prices. In effect, what they did was to agree among themselves to fix prices, adding from 3 to 5 per cent. Immediately after the grand jury took it up, we got a drop of from 10 to 16 per cent on 100 staple commodities. That sort of practice is going WHITEHEAD GIFT—Unshaded portions of the building above show the new Conkey Pate Whitehead Surgical Pavilion to be constructed as an additional wing to Emory University hospital. on all over the United States. Immediately after our indictment in Denver, it had its effect.

"Were those individually owned stores or chain groceries?" a member of the committee asked.

"They were both. We have investigated both individually owned and chain grocery stores together with wholesalers. They have all these grocery stores acting together to boost prices. You will find that in 27 states they have state unfair-practice laws, and we get a repercussion from that in every one of the cases."

Woodmen Name Camp Delegates

Two delegates and a like number of alternates to represent the seventh district at the state camp were elected at the regular district convention of Modern Woodmen of America, held yesterday at the Colonial Terrace hotel, where the Atlanta camp officers were hosts at a dinner for the representatives and their wives from Cobb, DeKalb, Douglas and Fulton counties.

Those chosen as state camp delegates were B. J. Rector, of Atlanta, and John J. Espy, of Decatur. The alternates are Roy Tapp, of Powder Springs, and D. T. Wood, of Douglasville.

ROME PERMITS MOUNT.
ROME, Ga., April 2.—(P)—Rome building permits last month amounted to $71,054, and swelled the quarterly figure to $168,894, the city fire department records showed today. Included were 22 new dwellings.

national objectives of the Foundation, particularly as they affect Atlanta, where she lived for many years and where she is widely known.

Other trustees of the Foundation are Dr. F. Phinizy Calhoun and James F. Alexander.

Preliminary plans for the building have been drawn by Hentz, Adler & Schutze, architects, and construction will begin as soon as final plans are approved, according to Thomas K. Glenn, chairman of the Emory finance committee.

A six-story building, the surgical pavilion will be approximately 40 feet in depth by 140 feet in width, and will join directly with the present main building of the hospital. The entrance wing, which will become the main entrance to the hospital, will be a two-story structure 50 feet by 60 feet.

In addition to the department of surgery, the new building will provide approximately 60 rooms for surgical patients, administrative offices for the School of Medicine and the hospital, five major operating rooms and five

The wing proper will house the department of surgery of the Emory School of Medicine, and will contain 60 rooms for surgical patients, and operating rooms equipped with the most modern facilities. The entrance wing will contain a Conkey Pate Whitehead memorial room, an entrance lobby, and visitors' rooms. Construction will begin as soon as final plans are approved. rooms for minor surgery, all of which will be equipped with the most modern facilities.

The ground floor will contain new X-ray equipment and the facilities for physical therapy and electro-cardiography.

"This latest gift," according to Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory, "marks one of the most significant steps yet taken toward the development of proper facilities for medical education, research and hospitalization in this area. It is believed that every person in our section ultimately will receive benefits from this memorial to Conkey Pate Whitehead."

"On behalf of all who will receive better surgical treatments and care as a result of this far-sighted action, Emory wishes to express gratitude to the members of the Whitehead family and to the trustees of the foundation."

Dr. Russell H. Oppenheimer, dean of the School of Medicine and medical director of the hospital, pointed out the value the modern facilities provided will have in advancing standards of surgical education throughout the south.

F. D. R. Meets Defense Group For U. S. Program Check-Up

Details Kept Strictly Secret; President Also Discusses Ways of Meeting British Requests for Ship Tonnage.

By D. HAROLD OLIVER.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(P)—New steps in the ever-expanding defense and British-aid programs apparently were in the making today as President Roosevelt met with an enlarged cabinet and military group after discussing, at a previous conference, ways of meeting British requests for new ship tonnage.

With details kept strictly secret, the chief executive conferred late in the day with what has become known as his "lend-lease" cabinet council and with Harry L. Hopkins, Attorney General Jackson and the heads of the three armed services.

The original White House announcement listed only Secretaries Hull, Stimson, Knox, Morgenthau and Hopkins, unofficial co-ordinator, as participants in what Press Secretary Stephen Early described as a checkup on all angles of the defense program.

The conference assumed greater importance later when Jackson was added to the conferees, along with General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and Major General Thomas Holcomb, commandant of marines.

Whether strike disorders at defense plants and Axis ship seizures were subjects of discussion was not announced.

Before the conferees met, critics in congress challenged administration leaders to state their views on the issue of convoys.

If United States naval vessels are assigned to convoy supply vessels across the Atlantic, then war will follow "as sure as death," said Senator Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire. His views were supported by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, who said that if President Roosevelt took such action "the people will lose faith in their government."

Virginia Woolf, Novelist, Missing, Believed Dead

LONDON, April 2.—(UP)—The disappearance of Virginia Woolf, prolific British novelist, was revealed tonight by members of her family who believed that she had drowned.

Mrs. Woolf, author of a long list of works dating from 1915 to 1940, left her home in Lewes last Friday for a walk. She has not been seen since.

Youngest daughter of the late Sir Leslie Stephen, she was married in 1912 to Leonard Woolf.

the cabinet of the new premier, General Simovic, he said.

When war comes, the reckless men and women members of the Comitaji go ahead of the army doing espionage work. They are experts in getting information out of prisoners. If their own army falls back they stay behind, fighting by day and working at night.

The Comitaji under Serb law have the right to demand food and lodging from anyone and the right to carry firearms.

Skeleton on Floor.

The poison given to each member is sewn in the upturned coat collar in such a way that a man or woman, even if manacled, can commit suicide by sucking the poison out of the cloth.

As Pecanee explained these things to Miss Mitchell he was sitting in his "study." Behind him hung a photograph of Gavrio Prinzip, the man who assassinated the Austrian Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife at Sarajevo in 1914 and thus launched the World War.

On the floor in a corner lay the bleached bones of a skeleton.

"Those are the bones of one of the greatest Comitaji heroes," Pecanee said. "His mother comes to see me in this room every few weeks. She often asks whose skeleton that is. I have never told her. I am hard, but not that hard."

Ruth Mitchell was piqued as she sat in her own home telling the story to this correspondent. Her auburn hair curled under her black fur Comitaji cap with its silver skull and crossbones emblem.

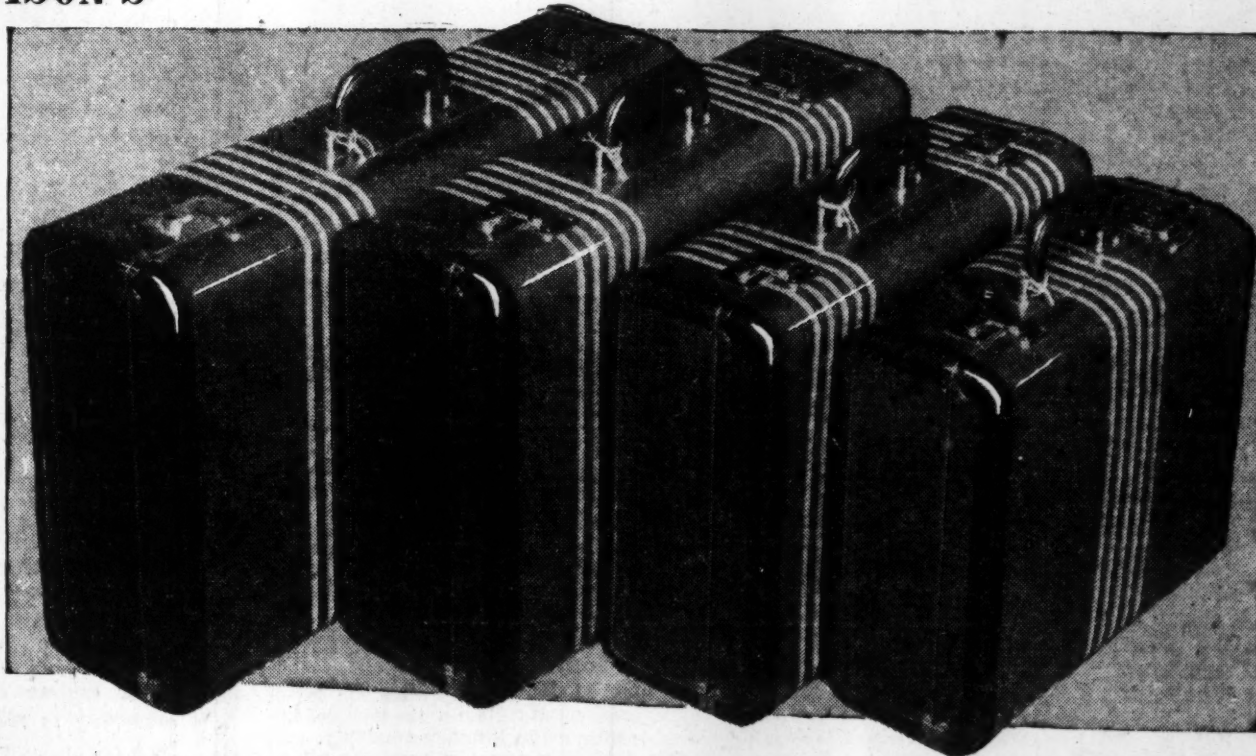

She was piqued because she wore a man's coat and riding breeches instead of the regulation uniform, which was not yet available. She said she was eager to don the black sox embroidered with red roses which all members wear over khaki trousers because there is a place in the top of one sock for a long slender dagger.

"The chief told me I would have to practice with a knife, plunging and twisting it into a sack of flour. He said that was good training," she said.

Miss Mitchell was the only English-American citizen in northern Albania when the Italian-Greek war started. She had been covering every passable road, writing a guidebook. She first learned of the Comitaji studying native folklore. She said she joined because "the Comitaji form the heart of Serbia and Serbia is the heart of Yugoslavia, which has dared to talk back to Hitler."

Her biggest problem today was finding a horse. The chief told her, she said, that because of the scarcity of gasoline and also because of the nature of Comitaji operations, she would have to have one to keep in touch with him and his officers.

Savannah Company Gets Contract for Three Mine Sweepers.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 2.—(P) Savannah business leaders tonight studied possibility that award of a contract to build three mine sweepers here would result in establishment of a permanent shipyard for the port.

In Washington, the Navy Department announced a $5,950,000 contract was awarded the Savannah Machinery & Foundry Company to construct three 200-foot minesweepers.

The ships themselves will cost $5,100,000, the additional $850,000 going for facilities needed.

The firm has been engaged in marine repair work at Savannah for many years and operates a 1,200-ton marine railway. The new enterprise will be operated under a separate division, in a separate plant to be located on the Savannah river.

Captain R. D. Gatewood, retired naval officer and naval contractor, will be associated with the firm as vice president and general manager of the shipbuilding division.

W. L. Mingleford, president, first entered the marine repair business here in 1914. He declined to discuss the contract today or to disclose the definite location planned for the new yard. His son, W. L. Mingleford Jr., is a vice president of the company.

Bondholders Buy Milling Company

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. ROME, Ga., April 2.—Bondholders of the Rome Milling Company today had sole possession of the company property after acquiring it at an auction sale on a bid of $49,350.

Purchase of the property by the 35 bondholders through John M. Graham, local banker, was interpreted as a move to enable private negotiations for resale of the flour company, which would resume operations after being closed for about a month.

Originally known as the Theo Stivers Milling Company, the firm was reincorporated last June and became known as the Rome Milling Company.

Stivers organized the firm 14 years ago at a cost reported to have been approximately $240,000. The plant capacity is 550 barrels of flour a day.

'Pressing Business' Keeps Governor From Rally at Morganton.

BLUE RIDGE, Ga., April 2.—A score of Murphy (N. C.) leaders arrived here this afternoon for a scheduled conference with Governor Talmadge on construction of a highway and then departed after waiting in vain for the chief executive.

C. E. Hartness, Fannin county representative, had arranged for the Governor to confer with the North Carolina delegation of businessmen and civic leaders.

Several hours later, at Morganton, six miles from Blue Ridge, some 2,000 Georgians gathered for a "Jackson Day" program, only to learn the chief speaker, Governor Talmadge, had been kept away by "pressing business."

Regrets of the Governor were transmitted by Commissioners Ben T. Huie and Zack Cravey. Representatives and citizens from a half dozen counties had assembled to hear Talmadge.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. TALBOTTON, Ga., April 2.—Talbot county's new $17,000 reinforced concrete jail will be ready for occupancy within 10 days, J. D. Stillwell, Columbus contractor, told county commissioners today.

A new polishing process is being employed on the exterior of the structure, and furnishings will be installed this week at an additional cost of $5,000.

Jail bonds were voted to pay for the structure.

Private Sale Planned For Barnesville Paper

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. BARNESVILLE, Ga., April 2.—Sale of the Barnesville News Gazette, Lamar county's only newspaper, failed to go through as scheduled yesterday, because no satisfactory bids were received. Only three bidders appeared, and it was announced the paper will be sold in a private sale.

Mrs. Naomi Kirby, of Bainbridge, who has operated the newspaper the past several years, has joined the Lowndes County Times and will leave April 15 to begin her duties in Valdosta. B. H. Hardy is owner of the Gazette.

Engineers Hear Discussion of U. S. Defense Synchronization Necessary, Dr. Kimball, OPM Official, Says.

The gigantic national defense program in this country must operate and is being geared to operate on a producing plan as finely synchronized as the works of a watch, Dr. Dexter S. Kimball, chairman of the tools and equipment group of the priorities division of the Office of Production Management, told more than 200 members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in their annual meeting at the Biltmore hotel last night.

To do this job priorities must be established to facilitate production of thousands of vital items, yet at the same time there must be caused as little disruption as possible of production for important civilian needs, the distinguished engineer, who is dean emeritus of the school of engineering at Cornell, told his hearers.

"It would be quite erroneous," he said, "to assume that all defense needs come ahead of all civilian needs. Obviously the most important civilian need is more important than the least essential military need. And this is a matter of delicate adjustment which the priorities system must make."

"Take the case of a great power plant . . . In some cases it might be desirable to encourage the production of power facilities by some sort of priority action, if need be, though the plant might be mainly for civilian production."

"Consider the case of a large factory employing thousands of men engaged in the production of purely civilian commodities. This plant may have little or no direct connection with defense, yet it is still desirable that such a factory not be closed down through the unwise application of the priorities system in such a way as to unnecessarily cut off raw materials or other supplies."

Taking all of these things into consideration the defense system must still be delicately synchronized to work.

A vast defense program is a delicately adjusted mechanism and it must be fitted together like clockwork . . . The hundreds of thousands of products which are to fit into predetermined place in the program must be ready on time.

Administration of the Production Management Office, Dean Kimball said, is closely geared "to make sure that the economic system, in picking up its new load, continues to function smoothly. In this, everyone can help, the ultimate civilian consumer as well as the manufacturer."

Dr. William S. Hanley, president of the A. S. M. E., in a brief address said America's job is to arm herself at the greatest possible speed, even if it meant increased taxes, shorter vacations, more work and the outlawing of strikes.

Talmadge Plans Defense Group

Governor Talmadge said yesterday that he was working on a plan to organize a home defense unit in Georgia to supplant the

The defense units will be placed in the hands of veterans of the World War, by means of their veterans' organizations. "These men," Talmadge said, "know what quick action and real defense means."

It just Breathes a little Deeper and Wades In!

EVER stop to figure why Nature gave you both a nose and a mouth to breathe through?

Your nose, barring colds, does all right for ordinary purposes.

But go up against some heavy exercise and you can open up your mouth as well and increase the intake of oxygen.

Your 1941 Buick with Compound Carburetor* works something like that.

Its "nose," which is the forward one of your two thrift-size carburetors, does a grand job of supplying "breath" for your engine on normal jobs.

But when the time comes that your engine has to dig in for a tough pull or a burst of power, then your extra foot-pressure on the gas treadle opens up the "mouth" and your engine "breathes" through two carburetors.

Simple, isn't it? Yet look what happens:

Your engine always consumes gas according to the need, never overfed by a carburetor too large for light jobs or underfed by one too small for the big ones.

By simply taking it easy when easy does it and breathing deep when the work piles up, your power plant gets as much as 10% to 15% more mileage from the same gasoline.

That, in these days, is nothing to be sneezed at.

So why don't you get the whole story from your Buick dealer?

Jobless Total Drops 317,000 During Month

2,318,000 Unemployed Found Work in Last Year.

NEW YORK, April 2.—(P)—The National Industrial Conference Board today reported that unemployment in February reversed the usual trend by dropping 317,000 to a total of 7,039,000.

Even more spectacular, said the board, a private research organization, was the comparison with a year ago which showed that in 12 months 2,318,000 unemployed had been given jobs, mostly in industry.

The board forecast even larger decreases in the jobless than in February as spring and summer activity in farming and construction combined with the defense program in employing workers.

"Expansion in the defense industries and in the armed forces," the board added, "accounted in large part for the increase of 364,000 in the number of persons employed in February. Manufacturing added 198,000 workers to its pay rolls and the service industries 227,000, of which 187,000 represented additions to the armed forces."

"Construction employed 129,000 fewer workers in February than in January, a smaller decline than usual. There were also less-than-seasonal declines of 29,000 in trade, distribution and finance and 21,000 in transportation."

"Agriculture's gain of 87,000 workers was also less than seasonal and the increase of 19,000 in the public utilities was contra-seasonal."

The board estimated that 70 per cent of the year's increase of 986,000 employed in the service industries was accounted for by enlargement in military personnel. The armed forces at the end of February totaled 1,145,000, including National Guard members inducted into regular military service.

Red Cross Call Draws 4,000 New Members

Drive Reaches Halfway Mark With Three Days Left.

Yesterday was by far the most successful day in gaining new members to the Red Cross roll call, according to Oby T. Brewer, chairman of the campaign.

New memberships yesterday in excess of 4,000 pushed the total received to date over the half-way mark.

A complete summary of divisions and their standings is as follows:

In commenting on the returns Brewer stated:

"While we have passed the half-way mark in memberships it means our work is only half done if we are to reach our goal of 50,000 members by Saturday. I just cannot feel that Atlanta is going to fail the Red Cross—the Red Cross has never failed anybody."

The Army IN GEORGIA

FORT BENNING, Ga., April 2. (UP)—The 10,000 men of the Second Armored Division tonight serviced and moved their 2,000 war vehicles under a strict black-out to conceal activities from an imaginary enemy.

The maneuver will end, not with a mock battle, but with a parade tomorrow for Major General A. R. Chaffee, of Fort Knox, Ky., commander of the Army's armored force.

The object of the maneuver was to meet an invading army. Engineers built pontoon bridges across two streams. Also tried in the maneuver were two new field rations—C, canned meat, vegetables, bread, sugar and soluble coffee; D, a chocolate provision.

The division this morning moved out of the reservation and established encampments in south Georgia. Air Corps observation planes operated from Albany. After taking on supplies and fuel, the units of the division moved with out lights and established concealed bivouacs on the reservation.

At dawn tomorrow, the division will move onto the parade ground, its advance co-ordinated by airplanes.

NEW DANGER IN OKEFENOKEE
WAYCROSS, Ga., April 2.—(AP) Army officers said today it wouldn't be a good idea for any wanderers to venture into the Okefenokee swamp area, southeast of Waycross, next Wednesday.

That's the day when the 213th Regiment, Coast Artillery, will begin practice with their three-inch antiaircraft guns, firing real shells. The firing position will be on lands owned by the Soil Conservation Service, including the recreation area known as Laura S. Walker park.

BENNING SOLDIERS PAID NEARLY TON OF CASH
FORT BENNING, Ga., April 2. (P)—More than 1,600 pounds of cash—the estimated weight of currency and coin—went into the pockets of Fort Benning soldiers yesterday.

Biggest of the pay rolls was for the Fourth Division, motorized, just back from a week-end run down to Panama City, Fla. Enlisted men received $448,431.09, an increase of $134,000 over the February pay roll.

OFFICERS TRANSFERRED TO FORT BENNING
War Department orders issued at Washington yesterday included the following transfers to Fort Benning: Majors Grady D. Epps and W. M. Ives Jr., both of Fort Ord; Majors John W. Middleton, San Francisco; Clark N. Bailey, Fort Custer; Raymond C. Barlow, Fort Custer; Horace L. Beall, Fort Jackson, and Robert T. Foster, Fort Levens.

Other transfers include: Lieutenant Colonel Thomas H. Stewart Jr., Fort Screven to Fort Jackson; Major D. M. Allison, Savannah to Tampa, and Major Bennett G. Owens, Atlanta to Camp Blanding.

COLUMBUS PLANNING ARMY DAY PARADE
COLUMBUS, Ga., April 2.—(AP) Warning to automobile drivers—don't park in the way of the Army Day parade Monday, Captain Ed Moncrief, of the traffic division, has asked authority to haul away cars whose owners could not be found immediately for removal from the route.

GOING INTO ARMY? THEN TRAVEL LIGHT
If you're going into the Army, go lightly.

Sion B. Hawkins, state director of selective service, urged selectees to carry along only one suitcase, "and do not take along bags, boxes and loose articles or you only will be causing a lot of inconvenience for yourself and others."

Also, unnecessary articles have to be shipped home—at the expense of the selectee.

BENNING CALLS FOR PARACHUTE VOLUNTEERS
FORT BENNING, Ga., April 2. (P)—The Army is calling for volunteers to man three new parachute divisions, all to be stationed here.

Enlisted men, to be accepted, must be unmarried, between 21 and 30 years of age, must have had at least six months' experience with troops, and must have a year's more service ahead of them in their enlistment.

There will be vacancies for 100 officers from the rank of second lieutenant to major.

Maximum Set On Iron, Steel Scrap Prices

Speculative Activity Made Action Necessary, Says U. S. Official.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—The government today fixed maximum prices at which iron and steel scrap may be sold.

Leon Henderson, defense price stabilization commissioner, said the action was made necessary "by speculative activity which has put inflationary pressure on iron and steel scrap prices during the last few months."

"In January, I asked the industry to co-operate with the government in its effort to prevent runaway prices," Henderson said. "For the most part, the response to my request has been wholehearted. Some persons in the industry, however, have been continuing their speculative practices at the expense of those who have co-operated."

The price schedule established three scales of maximum prices: for iron and steel scrap other than that of railroad origin, for railroad scrap, and for scrap for export.

The price schedule was the fifth issued by defense officials. During the day they "froze" bituminous coal prices in view of the strike in that industry.

He'll Be a Sucker On April Fool Now

Dr. Vernon E. Powell is not a man to be fooled by an April fool joke. He has never been deceived by the pocketbook gag, and in all his life he has never kicked a derby hat with a brick hidden under it.

So Tuesday, when his associate, Dr. E. Van Buren, woke him up in the early morning to announce in an excited voice that their office on Juniper street was on fire, Dr. Powell laughed merrily.

"You can't pull that old April fool joke on me," he said. "I know what day this is." Then he hung up.

Half an hour later when Dr. Powell got to the office, he found firemen just rolling up their hose after extinguishing a stubborn blaze in the basement that had smudged the whole place with smoke.

Hapeville To Shoot Unlicensed Dogs

Hapeville Police Chief T. D. Clonts yesterday warned that the city ordinance requiring all dogs to be licensed before turning them loose on the street will be strictly enforced and that henceforth those found without inoculation tags will be killed.

The warning came as a result of a "scare" last Friday when a mad dog ran loose for several hours along Central avenue, Sims street, Oakdale road and Jackson street. Several dogs were bitten and 17 stray dogs were killed by Hapeville police as a result.

"Any dog owner who doesn't think enough of his dog to have him licensed and inoculated against rabies has no right to own one," Chief Clonts said. "It is for the protection of all concerned that we must keep stray dogs off our streets."

at the COURTHOUSE

Trial of Joe Jacobs, Atlanta attorney charged with receiving stolen property, will enter its second day this morning in Fulton superior court.

Fulton county commissioners yesterday ordered filed a recommendation from the grand jury that all tractors used on county farms be operated either by regular county employees or convicts, rather than special operators.

At the City Hall

Traffic enforcement officers were marked men yesterday, at least some of them were, as they mounted motorcycles painted white. Mayor LeCraw, attacking what he said was a police racket, told voters he would put enforcement officers on equipment which "can be seen, and I'll take them out of hiding." The new white motorcycles arrived and were placed in service, with half a dozen others slated for delivery during the week.

Work on the city's new $550,000 incinerator was humming yesterday after delivery of a quantity of structural steel. Defense work has prevented execution of the work for several days, and it is 30 days late even now, H. J. Cates, chief of the sanitary department, says.

Regular scheduled meeting of city council's finance committee this afternoon was postponed by Councilman John A. White, chairman.

KINGSTON WATERWORKS. KINGSTON, Ga., April 2.—Contracts were awarded this week for construction and equipment of a new waterworks system for Kingston.

Vacation Is Voted House by Senate

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(P)—The senate agreed today to let the house take a 10-day vacation starting tomorrow and ending April 14.

Majority Leader Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, obtained senate approval of the plan after explaining that the constitution required that either the senate or house must get approval of the other for any adjournment while the other remained in session.

As for an Easter vacation for senators, he said the senate had numerous matters requiring that they stay on the job.

WITH THE CONSTITUTION STAFF

Welcome Court Social Club will meet at 8:30 o'clock tonight at 26 Pine street. Strangers and lonely people are invited to attend, President Frank Gleason announced.

William T. Rich, Mrs. Sam Mohr, Sinclair Jacobs, Eugene Oberdorfer, Max Goldstein, Julian V. Boehm, L. B. Lillenthal and Berry Rittenbaum, all of Atlanta, have been named members of the National Advisory Committee of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations to aid in plans for the 37th biennial council of the union in Detroit April 26 through May 1.

Admiral Stark's invitation prompted immediate favorable comment in the Latin American diplomatic corps here.

One highly placed chief of mission said: "It is a logical sequence to the visit here last fall of our army staff chiefs with their aides. Much that has been good came of that visit. Certainly it will be to the advantage of all of us for our naval officers to see what the United States fleet is. No possible harm can come of our naval officers getting to know the officers of the great United States fleet and establishing personal contacts which will help our smaller naval units fit into a big hemisphere maritime defense program."

Presto!—from petroleum to Silk
Your eyes don't deceive you. For that lustrous lingerie the lady can thank an oil well!
First, at the "University of Petroleum" (Shell's $3,500,000 research laboratories) they performed amazing chemical feats with petroleum molecules. The result was a product used during the making of filaments for artificial silk.
Through similar chemical acrobatics, the "University of Petroleum" has helped give America a potentially unlimited supply of glycerine, synthetic rubber, TNT and a greater supply of Vitamin E.
This uncanny knowledge of petroleum molecules is what you buy, "by the gallon," at Shell pumps!

NEW Solutized SHELL is the finer fuel for '41

TWO SCIENTIFIC FACTORS advance the Road Performance Rating (RPR) of the new Shell Gasoline to an all-time high:
1. It is refined with the Solutizer Process (originated by Shell's research laboratories, Patent No. 2,149,379). This steps up performance by removing the "pro-knock mercaptans" which have always been a drag on performance.
2. Thermal conversion makes it extra rich in iso-compounds similar to iso-octane—first produced commercially by Shell scientists to give America 100-octane aviation gasoline :: fuel so powerful and efficient that it led to an increase in the speed and flying range of America's planes up to 30%!

These two factors save on the costliest driving you do—Stop-and-Go. And increased RPR puts a new thrill in your motoring! Your Shell dealer has new Solutized Shell (at regular price) and Shell Premium—try a tankful today!

Pipe Line Issue Is Declared Out Of U. S. Power

Congress Authority To Override Assembly Doubtful by Lawyer.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—A railroad lawyer contended today it was "beyond the power of congress" to override the Georgia legislature and grant to petroleum pipe line companies the right of eminent domain in the state.

A. B. Conger, of Bainbridge, Ga., district counsel for the Seaboard Air Line Railway, protested against suggestions that congress clear the way for the construction of two oil lines in southern states.

With other railroad spokesmen, he appeared before a house interstate commerce subcommittee investigating petroleum resources and supplies.

The Southeastern Pipe Line Company wants to operate from Port St. Joe, Fla., to Chattanooga, Tenn., and the Plantation Pipe Line Company from Baton Rouge, La., to Greensboro, N. C.

Both firms, formed by major oil companies for the purpose of building the lines, ran into legal difficulty in Georgia.

Conger said the Southeastern Company laid its line at night under the Seaboard Railroad tracks south of Bainbridge. Then, despite a court order to the contrary, he said, they completed the job at that point one Sunday morning about 2:30 o'clock. Later, he said, by another court order, the company was required to remove the line under the tracks.

J. G. Luthren, representing the Railway Labor Executives Association, said construction of these lines would result in decreased railroad employment in southern states.

W. L. Stanley, of Atlanta, vice president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, declared existing transportation facilities were fully prepared to handle whatever service the defense program demanded.

Mrs. Annie Dunn Succumbs at 72

Mrs. Annie Albright Dunn, 72, life-long resident of Atlanta, died last night at her home at 834 Briarcliff road, N. E.

She was the daughter of Albert and Minnie Albright, pioneer residents of this city. She and her husband, Albert L. Dunn, celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary last November.

She was a member of All Saints' Episcopal church, the Pioneer Club and the Atkins Park Garden Club.

Surviving are her husband, one son, Walter L. Dunn; one sister, Mrs. Dora Lee, of Oxford; two granddaughters, Mrs. J. D. Hopkins, of Abington, Va., and Miss Betty Dunn, of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Brandon-Bond-Condor.

GREATEST OF EASE—When the Army's big trucks come to a river the engineers will hoist a cable and the big vehicles will swing through the air like the man on the flying trapeze. This photo shows the new cable bridge being tested yesterday at Fort Riley, Kansas, with the inventor, Lieutenant Colonel R. B. Lord, supervising the maneuver.

SUCCESS—Large trucks, including a seven-ton armored car, were swung from bank to bank of Smoky Hill river as a board of War Department experts watched the Ninth Engineers put the new device through its paces. The trucks pull one another across by means of a special winch. Now they cross bridges without building them.

Labor Angling For More Pay—Miss Thompson

experiment of prohibition produced a lot of gangsters and hijackers and shakedown boys, all through the collaboration of the respectable but thirsty public, and its repeal left a lot of them unemployed. Some went into the numbers racket and some went into trade union racketeering.

Add another complicating factor: the Communist party members and fellow-travelers. They run some unions in this country and they run them in a high-handed manner that has nothing whatever to do with democracy. The Communist party activities, furthermore, have nothing to do with Socialism. They are pure reactionists, much more interested in the fate of the Soviet Union than in any future America. They are trained in underhand conspiratorial methods, and bent on producing chaos, the production of chaos being the International party line.

Silly Situation.
The people of the United States, being full of civil liberty have not got the guts to outlaw the Communist party, and yet have enough intelligence to see that you can tolerate only a certain restricted number of Communists, so we have the silly situation that the Dies committee and the Department of Justice seek to track down individuals, and the result is a lot of petty persecution and no solution whatsoever. The Communist party has the right to run a candidate for President of the United States, but a party member hasn't the right to teach in New York schools.

If we would get clear in our heads, we would know what to do about Communists. First, we would design a democratic social and economic program that would attract the really honest rebels who rightly consider that plenty of things are not so good in Denmark, and we would go after the Communist party, not on the ground that it uses murder, perjury, falsification of passports and general criminal skulduggery as instruments of party policy, but that it pretends on the one hand to be as open, candid, political movement and on the other indulges in criminal conspiracy to overthrow the social order, and takes its orders from foreign agents.

Finally, the labor situation is complicated by the fact that a certain number of employers would rather embarrass the Roosevelt administration than lick Hitler, and rather defeat labor than save the nation. Some of them see in the defense program a fine way to crush independent unions on the ground of the public safety.

For some of them, the defense program is just a colossal boondoggle of government investment in capital goods, that can be dressed up in the Star-Spangled Banner.

They Fear Future.

Furthermore, this idea of defense as a boondoggle has permeated down to the workers themselves who wonder what's going to happen to them when the defense program is no longer necessary and the inevitable depression and possible inflation freely prophesied by the pessimists sets in. They want their gravy now, because they fear there may be unemployment and destitution just around the corner.

So there's the situation: Hasty union organization, some subversive agents, some racketeers, not a single first-rank labor statesman, obviously a momentary good break for labor as a commodity, political interests on the part of the employers aimed at hurting Roosevelt, fear of another depression at some coming date—all adding up to labor unrest, employer fury, strikes, and a crippling of the defense effort which is more serious than it ought to be. And adding up to hysteria in some ranks in congress, with demands for general suppression of strikes, if not of unions.

Up to Administration.
The administration ought to make it clear, first, that labor is to have its full share of the general increase in the national income bound to result from the colossal spending in the defense effort; second, that there is no going to be either a depression or a general inflation, since both can be controlled—and if they can't don't fight Hitler; third, a warm appeal to the patriotism and responsible co-operation of labor from the President, who is the best friend labor has ever had in the White House; fourth, real action against Communist and Nazi agitators, whose centers and activities are fully known to the authorities; fifth, stopping of the general Red-baiting against all who are trying to work for a genuinely better social order; sixth, a warning to organized labor that it isn't the whole of America and that the worst thing that can happen to it is to lose the support of public opinion.

make arrests anywhere in the state. This is expected to facilitate enforcement and to cut red tape, which has hampered the department in the past.

Plans for the campaign have been incubating for about two months with members of the police committee working quietly to get their campaign planned and the assurance that every co-operation would be available to make it effective.

Several weeks ago, Bridges charged "the bug (lottery) is more active in Atlanta than at any time in my memory," and proposed that it be curbed. At that time, he asked Chief Hornsby, of the Atlanta force, to get action against operators.

At tonight's session, the department is to be informed all is in readiness for the renewed effort at vigorous law enforcement against lottery, bootleg liquor and vice, which law enforcement experts contend are the most remunerative of the rackets.

"I want all laws enforced, and I don't want any group so powerful that it even thinks it is immune to activities of our police department or other law enforcement agencies," Bridges said in commenting on the projected campaign. "As long as I have anything to do with it, we are going to enforce the law in Atlanta."

Frank Baker, Draft Officials' Noted Mason, Kin Barred as Dies in Macon Paid Employees

Secretary of Grand Lodge of Georgia for Quarter Century.

MACON, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—Frank F. Baker, for 25 years secretary of the Grand Lodge of Georgia, F. & A. M., died at his home here today after a long illness.

He had served as secretary since his appointment by Grand Master N. H. Ballard in June, 1915, and had been re-elected annually since at sessions of the grand lodge here, many times by acclamation.

Baker, known as the "father" of the endowment fund for the Masonic Home here, had traveled many miles in its behalf. He was instrumental in organization of a profitable print shop at the home.

He served as secretary of the board of trustees of the home, as editor of the Masonic Messenger, and was prominent in church and civic life.

Baker had served as a worthy grand patron of the Grand Chapter of Georgia, Order of the Eastern Star.

A temporary successor probably will be appointed by Grand Master Preston Agee, of Augusta, to serve until a secretary can be elected at the annual session here in October, local Masons said.

Funeral services will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church here at 11 o'clock Friday. Burial will be in Rose Hill cemetery, and Masonic honors will be paid at the graveside.

An empty house is more expensive than a Want Ad in The Constitution that will rent it.

State Boards Will Be Told To Comply With Order Immediately.

Compensated employees of draft boards cannot be related, either by blood or marriage, with draft board officials, an order issued yesterday by Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, acting director of national headquarters for selective service, declared.

Adjutant General Sion B. Hawkins received the order late yesterday from General Hershey, and declared he would relay it to the 188 Georgia draft boards with instructions that it be complied with immediately.

General Hawkins stated he was in no position to state how many employees of the Georgia draft boards will be affected by the order, pointing out that draft board officials serve without compensation, while all clerks and stenographers are paid salaries.

"No person as near as first cousin, either by blood or marriage, to members of a draft board, shall be a compensated employee of the board," the order from General Hershey said.

Georgia Firm To Build Naval Mine Sweepers

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—The Savannah (Ga.) Machinery & Foundry Company was awarded today a $5,950,000 contract for construction of three 200-foot mine-sweepers.

The Navy Department said that $850,000 would go for facilities for constructing the three vessels while $5,100,000 would go for purchasing the vessels when completed. Delivery dates were not announced.

U. S. Moves in 'War of Nerves'
MANILA, Thursday, April 3.—(UP)—Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, commander in chief of all British sea, air and land forces in the Far East, was reported in conference at Cavite naval base today with Rear Admiral Thomas H. Hart, commanding the U. S. Asiatic fleet, Major General George Grunert, commanding the Philippines Department of the U. S. Army, and Francis B. Sayre, U. S. high commissioner to the Philippines.

A general discussion of British-American co-operation in the defense of joint interests in the Pacific ocean area was under way, competent observers believed, pointing out that reports of the "full dress" meeting came while Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka was in the midst of supposedly important Axis conversations in Rome and Berlin.

Twenty-seven U. S. Army pursuit planes roared over Manila in formation as the reported conference began outside the capital.

The British commander in chief arrived here unexpectedly by air yesterday from Singapore and the Netherlands East Indies.

Speculation here was that the visit was a part of war of nerves tactics against the Axis powers. The move was seen as similar to the recent unexpected arrival of U. S. warships in Australia, on the southward route from Honolulu to Singapore.

Fox
James Cagney goes a bit sissy to build up for his role in "Strawberry Blonde" but before he finishes the carryings-on with Rita Hayworth and Olivia de Havilland he is tough, plenty and funny. "Strawberry Blonde" is a comedy of the hoop-skirt and bawls era in which Cagney is a fighting son of a street cleaner, Allan Hale, but he always loses his fights, and he's scared to death of women. Another departure from the imaginable in "Strawberry Blonde" is that Rita Hayworth, the "Ah-h-h-h girl" who got the title role when Ann Sheridan went on strike, is cast as the sweet alluring type and Olivia plays the brazen hussy.

Grand
Thorne Smith's "Mr. Topper" in the personage of Roland Young comes back to the Loew's Grand screen tomorrow with a new playmate, lovely Joan Blondell, in a film, the third in the series, titled appropriately, "Mr. Topper Returns."

Also added to the cast is Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, who finds so much taking place in the supernatural world "Topper" runs around in that he announces to the audience, "I'm going back to Mr. Benny's program. Didn't nothing like this ever happen there."

Also in the cast are Billie Burke and Carole Landis. And again the story deals with the beautiful dead girl coming back to life to haunt the timid little banker—but this time the dead girl solves her own murder and saves Topper from both wife and the electric chair.

Roxy
Tommy Dorsey is the star of a musical picture called "Las Vegas Nights" and opening today at the Roxy theater in conjunction with the elaborate documentary film, "World in Flames."

In the cast of the musical are Phil Ragen, the handsome ex-cop who gave a pretty movie star a ticket one day and landed in the movies the next and who sang on the Roxy stage here two years ago; Lillian Cornell and Comedian Bert Wheeler.

"World in Flames" is a feature length accounting of events of the past 10 years leading up to the present moments of the World War.

Paramount
James Stewart and Ginger Rogers, the 1940 Academy Award winners, can be seen in a film together at the Paramount theater today—it's "Vivacious Lady," one of the most enjoyable of light romantic comedies which they made about two years ago and which has been re-released since they both won the award, as it is the only film they ever made together.

On the same program the Paramount will offer the young singing star, Gloria Jean, in "A Little Bit of Heaven."

Rialto
"Gallant Sons," a story of modern American youths, opens a week's engagement at the Rialto theater tomorrow. It is a story of high school boys and girls, vastly different from the customary story of such an age-group.

Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville and Gene Reynolds take the principal roles. These boys and girls set out to investigate a murder mystery, after they are convinced that the father of one of them has been unjustly convicted of the crime. How they achieve their objective is a story packed with thrills, with plenty of comedy and with a most appealing and youthful romance.

Also in the cast are Gail Patrick, Ian Hunter, El Brendel, June Preisser, Leo Gorcey and William Tracy.

Probe Ordered Into Distance Phone Rates

Governors, Utility Commissions To Be Told of FCC Action.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(P)—The Federal Communications Commission ordered today an investigation of long distance telephone rates of the vast Bell system.

The commission directed the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and 21 associated companies to show why its long distance rates should not be reduced.

The order will be served on each state Governor and all state public utility commissions in addition to the companies directly concerned. Simultaneously, the FCC dismissed an inquiry of similar nature ordered by its former telephone division in September, 1936. The commission called attention in a statement on today's action to the fact that A. T. & T. had increased its net income from $20,160,763 in 1938 to $27,217,438 for the 12 months ended last January 31.

Fraternity Officers Open Session Today

Leaders From 9 States To Gather on Tech Campus.

Fraternity officers from nine southeastern states will gather on the Georgia Tech campus for the first meeting of the three-day Southeastern Interfraternity Conference beginning at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Purpose of the annual conference is to instruct the delegates in their duties as fraternity officers. Hamilton Douglas, dean of Atlanta Law School, will lead instruction for presidents. Other courses will be given for house managers and treasurers, and rushing pledge training will be discussed.

Dr. Freeman H. Hart, executive secretary of Pi Kappa Alpha, will speak at 7:30 o'clock tonight on "The Heritage of Fraternity Friendships." Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor of the First Methodist church, will speak on "Graduate Degree, J. O. B." at 4:40 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and Dr. Hubert Poteat, representative of the National Interfraternity Conference and national councillor of Kappa Alpha, will discuss "The Great Task" at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

50,492 on Rolls Of Marine Corps

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(P)—The Marine Corps, Secretary Knox reported today, now has a strength of 50,492 officers and men. This figure, he said, includes 3,113 officers including retired men and reserves on active duty, and 47,379 regular and reserve enlisted men on active duty.

In a progress report, Knox also reported that about 50 officers and men of the Marine Corps are receiving parachute training each month at Lakehurst, N. J., and funds have been appropriated for installation of training equipment near San Diego, Cal.

Trust Charges Made In Cottonseed Buying

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(P)—Price-fixing on cottonseed has been cited to the House Appropriations Committee as a subject deserving of federal attention. Charges of a trust in the purchasing of cottonseed from the farmer were voiced before a subcommittee by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Representative Hobbs, Democrat, Alabama. The record of hearings was made public today.

They appeared to urge an increased appropriation for the Justice Department's anti-trust division headed by Thurman Arnold, and gave the cottonseed situation as an example of the need for expanded activity by the division.

Soft Coal Price Is Pegged at March Level

U. S. Moves To Prevent Excessive Cost Due to Strike.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—The government today ordered the freezing of bituminous coal prices at the March 28 levels.

Leon Henderson, defense price stabilization commissioner, said the action was taken "to prevent runaway or excessive prices due to the bituminous coal strike."

The ceiling prices apply to producers, distributors, retailers and "all other sellers" of soft coal.

The price schedule promulgated by Henderson provides that no coal may be sold at prices exceeding those received by the seller on similar sales or deliveries made March 28.

Henderson said that the action was taken after consultation and in co-operation with the Interior Department's bituminous coal division.

The order issued by Henderson gave no authority for the action but it stated that in the event of refusal to abide by the price limitations the defense commission "will make every effort to assure (a) that congress, the various federal, state and local agencies and committees, including defense organizations, and the public are fully informed of the instances of such profiteering or non co-operation; and (b) that the powers of the government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest in the maintenance of fair prices."

$1,100,000,000 Income Taxes Paid in Month

Revenue Far Exceeds Expectations of U. S. Officials.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—Officials seeking more revenue to finance the defense program were heartened today by figures showing that income tax collections during March reached the record-breaking total of about $1,100,000,000.

Closing its books for the month, the Treasury found that combined income and excess profits tax collections were $1,207,512,891. Reports were not available on exactly how much of this represented excess profits taxes, but because most corporations were permitted to postpone payment of this levy, at least $1,100,000,000 of the total was believed to be income taxes.

The month's total was nearly double the income tax collections of March last year. It was learned the collections exceeded budget estimates by about $300,000,000.

Bar Body Nominations To Be Made in Albany

ALBANY, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—The board of governors of the Georgia Bar Association will prepare nominations for state officers at a meeting here Friday.

William Y. Atkinson, of Newnan, association president, said the board, made up of representatives from the 33 judicial circuits, would discuss the plans for the statewide committee planned for Savannah May 22, 23 and 24.

Arrangement To End CIO Strike in Ford Plant Is Reached

Governor Van Wagoner for what a representative of the Governor said was "mediation efforts to settle the strike."

The Ford group was headed by Harry Mack, a company official. Two others were identified as Elmer Hogan and James Brady, members of the Ford personnel department.

Governor Van Wagoner's secretary said the Governor planned to leave the conference shortly and to leave the Ford emissaries with Dewey and Thomas J. Donahue and John D. Lynch, members of the Governor's special mediation commission.

Dewey in Pain. Limping from arthritis in his left leg, and carrying a cane, Dewey had come here from his Chester (Pa.) home in answer to pressing calls for federal help.

Governor Van Wagoner has indicated he considers the problem one of direct federal responsibility, in view of the millions in national defense orders given to Ford. He has indicated the state therefore is in a subordinate position.

The same streets leading to the River Rouge plant which today were blocked by strikers' automobiles were clogged tonight by sightseers' cars driven to the vicinity of the mammoth 1,000-acre plant, largest industrial site in the world.

The company's appeal to the President was contained in a telegram to Mr. Roosevelt from Harry H. Bennett, company personnel director. In it Bennett charged that "Communist leaders" were "actively directing this lawlessness."

"Local and state law enforcement agencies," Bennett said, "appear to be unable to cope with the situation. Nonstriking employees who have returned to work have been brutally assaulted and mistreated."

"We respectfully urge your assistance in ending terrorist mass picketing, violence and other lawless acts so that our employees can resume work and make possible our full participation in the national defense program."

The union countered charges of subversive leadership with an offer, telegraphed to officials of the Office of Production Management in Washington, to return to work any strikers the OPM would designate as needed in national defense.

Governor Van Wagoner announced late yesterday afternoon that the Ford company had pledged its word not to attempt to reopen the plant "during the mediation period."

Co-operation Pledged. Governor Van Wagoner also said that the striking workers and the company "agreed to co-operate with the state police in maintaining law and order during the period of mediation of differences."

Meanwhile, a burst of gunfire killed four men and wounded five others yesterday at the Crumley Creek Coal Company commissary as union pickets roamed the bituminous coal fields of Harlan county.

A few hours later Robert Hodge, secretary-treasurer of the Harlan district, United Mine Workers of America union (CIO), said Harlan coal operators and union officials had agreed to a 24-hour armistice.

Hodge said he had been notified from New York by W. J. Cunningham and Charles Guthrie, representing the Harlan coal operators, and William Turnblazer and Jack O'Leary, union officials, that no mines would attempt to operate and no pickets would be placed.

The four are in New York aiding in negotiating a new work contract for the area.

Company Blamed. The agreement is effective immediately, Hodge said, adding that "the union would give the operators 24 hours to show their good faith in the pact."

At Frankfort, the state capitol,

Governor Keen Johnson said "the violence" at Harlan was "a disgrace" and "that it ought to stop." He declined comment on any steps he might have in mind to control the situation.

Late this afternoon Mayor L. O. Smith said a number of citizens were sworn in as special policemen to "keep the gun-toters off the streets of Harlan," adding that if necessary "every able-bodied citizen will be summoned to keep the streets of this town free of men carrying arms."

Children Warned. "We are not interested in any controversial matter," the mayor said, "but we are interested in looking to our own safety."

School children were warned to stay off the streets.

The first break in almost two years of labor peace in Harlan county came Tuesday morning when a mine guard was killed and a mine picket wounded as UMWA miners started picketing the county's 43 mines, pending completion in New York of negotiations for a new work contract for the Appalachian area.

The men killed in the shooting were identified as Charles Ruth and Ed Tye, of Black Mountain, and Oscar Goodin and Virgil Hampton, both of Lynch.

Late today County Judge C. E. Ball signed warrants charging seven members of the coal company with murder. Bonds were set at $5,000 each.

In New York, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, ruled out the possibility of federal mediation in the wage dispute and work stoppage as a spokesman for the mine operators agreed with a federal conciliator's expressed belief that an agreement soon would be reached and the mines reopened.

Speaking at a convention of anthracite miners during a recess in negotiations between union and management in the soft coal industry, Lewis asserted that "we are not going to follow the new formula that the Mediation Board has discovered—of wiring the strikers to go back, bust their strikes, then have them come to Washington to mediate for the remnants of it."

Lewis called attention to reports that negotiators for the union representing 330,000 miners in the eight-state bituminous Appalachian area, had "receded in their demands for vacations and other things," and declared that to the best of his knowledge there had been no such recession.

As the union and bituminous operators resumed negotiations late in the afternoon, following the recess called at the end of a morning session, Charles O'Neill, a credited spokesman for the operators and one of their negotiators, said:

Short Duration. "We assure the public at this hour that the suspension will be of short duration. An agreement will be achieved and the mines will very shortly reopen."

Lewis addressed the delegates representing 100,000 hard coal miners in the rich eastern Pennsylvania fields after they elected him chairman of their convention in which they will form a union program for negotiation next week of a contract to replace one expiring April 30.

He told the cheering delegates that "the country stands against the possibility of the coal supply being curtailed," and declared that "we assert before the country that we are not responsible for that situation."

He declared that southern congressmen—"labor's enemies"—had proposed in congress a measure to take away the workers' right to strike in defense industries and asserted that "the time is not here yet and methinks it will not come in America when an act of congress can make indentured servants out of 45,000,000 American workers."

Attacks Solon. Any political party that would permit such legislation, Lewis added, would "be swept from power by an outraged vote." Pounding a desk with his fist, Lewis told the miners that Representative Sumners, Democrat, Texas, whom he called a "small-time, small-town lawyer," had told congress that strikers in defense industries should be electrocuted.

"They would have to electrocute tomorrow 400,000 bituminous coal miners and perhaps on the first of May they would have to electrocute 120,000 anthracite miners," Lewis added, "and if I know anything about the miners, I would say, 'Oh boy, what a job.'"

There were demands in congress for legislation to curb strikes in defense industries. The house approved two separate investigations of the defense program.

The Ford strike, formally begun early yesterday, had paralyzed plant operations. The company has approximately $155,000,000 in defense contracts.

Several Hurt. State troopers went to the Rouge plant area, where a number of men were hurt in fights between strikers and nonstrikers this morning, at the orders of Governor Van Wagoner.

A Ford company ship, reported to be carrying food for employees in the plant, arrived there yesterday afternoon from Toledo, sailing up Lake Erie and thence the Detroit river and the Rouge river. An estimated 5,000 employees have remained in the plant.

Bridge Released. Strikers had relinquished possession of a lift bridge over the Rouge river earlier in the day and the vessel's passage was unimpeded.

First reports on the strike fights, sporadic affairs yesterday morning, indicated about 30 men were hurt, three seriously. Bennett, in his telegram to the President, said "more than 200 employees" were injured.

Neither Henry Ford, founder of the Ford industrial empire, nor his son, Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford company, commented. Both remained at their homes during the turbulent day.

A formal UAW-CIO statement said the strike was "forced upon the union at this time for the Ford Motor Co., which has for months been engaged in deliberate and continuous efforts to prevent adjustment of Ford workers' grievances by means of conference and conciliation."

Demands Listed. In authorizing the strike, the union made public a list of five demands: 1. Immediate reinstatement of employees it charged had been dismissed for union activities; 2. A wage increase of 10 cents an hour; 3. A strict seniority system; 4. Establishment of a fixed grievance procedure; 5. Abolition of the company's "spy system" and establishment of a "contractual agreement."

In Washington three Democratic senators—Byrd of Virginia, Connally of Texas, and Overton of Louisiana—demanded immediate legislation to deal with strikes. Byrd said Secretary Perkins was "exceedingly derelict" for not certifying the Milwaukee Allis-Chalmers strike, the Defense Mediation Board and expressed hope that the Democratic leadership would seek "effective legislation to remove the strike threat to our defense industry."

Connally favored authorizing the President to take over strike-bound defense plants and Overton advocated preventing strikes from stopping men from going to work in such plants.

The Allis-Chalmers plant, where police battled strikers Monday and Tuesday, was closed today upon order of Governor Julius P. Heil. The UAW-CIO, which called the strike 71 days ago, demanded at mass meeting that the plant also be closed to the 1,700 office workers. Company officials plan to keep the plant shut until the federal government advises them as to a future course.

The White House announced receipt of a telegram from Governor Heil suggesting federal action in the Allis-Chalmers strike, and said it had been referred to the office of production management. Stephen T. Early, press secretary, said the telegram contained no request for federal troops.

A "roll of honor" of defense workers pledged not to strike or hamper the defense program without first resorting to mediation was suggested by Representative Pfeiffer, Republican, New York.

In announcing his resolution to establish an "honor roll" in defense industries, Pfeiffer told the house he believed a direct appeal to the patriotism of the workers would be more effective "than all the police might sticks, tear gas and armored cars in the country."

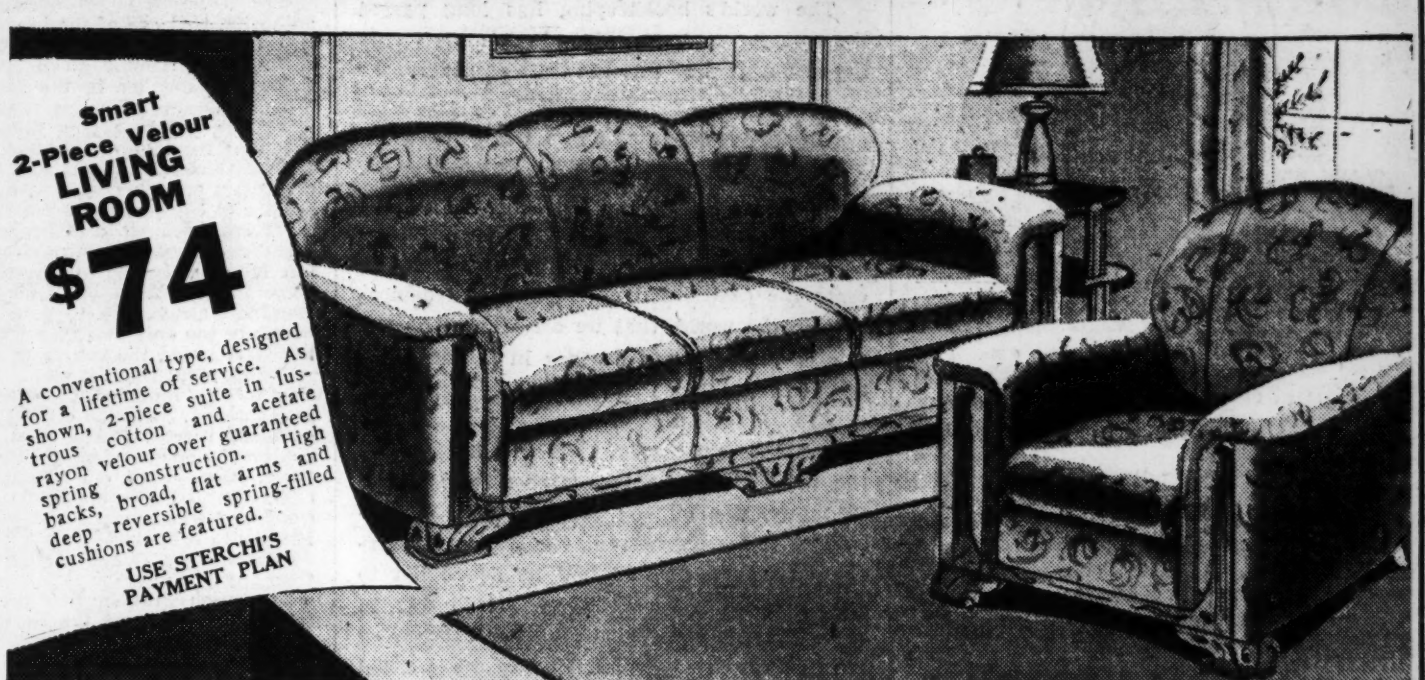

Pfeiffer's resolution would authorize the Office of Production Management to set up a voluntary organization to be known as the "Patriotic Builders of America's Defense" and to issue certificates, medals or other suitable recognition to every defense worker who voluntarily joined the movement.

C. A. Dykstra, chairman of the defense mediation board, said that an agreement for continuing production at the International Harvester Company had been reached by a panel of the board and that the agreement had been signed by the company and the AFL, but not by the CIO.

The agreement provided: That all plants of the company would be kept open and defense production maintained pending a final recommendation for settlement by the board.

That the Labor Relations Board would be asked for "the earliest possible determination" of the appropriate bargaining agencies. That the company would permit all employees returning to work to resume their tasks without loss of seniority rights and privileges.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 3, 1941.

They Must Be Chuckling

There must be little occasion for laughter in the lives of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, these days. The handwriting on the wall is becoming plainer every day and that handwriting holds no pleasant prophecies for the gangsters who have turned Europe into an inferno of cruelty and death.

Yet there is one situation in the world which must, whenever they think of it, provide excuse for a few chuckles by the distraught would-be world conquerors. That is the strike situation in defense industry in the United States.

You remember, if you ever read what Hitler proclaims to the world in his book, "Mein Kampf," in his speeches and other fulminations, that he has repeatedly said, if the United States attempted to aid in his defeat, that his emissaries would so completely disrupt American industry by strikes and disturbances and walkouts and sabotage that this country would be powerless to produce any worthwhile contribution to the impeding war.

And today that threat is being made good. One million man days of labor were lost in February alone because of defense industry strikes. Sufficient labor to turn out hundreds of fighter planes. Hardly a day passed in which a score or more of defense industries, were not crippled by strikes. Today the Allis-Chalmers plant, one of the most vital to defense, is the scene of fighting between strikers and police; John L. Lewis has, at least temporarily, called out the soft coal miners of the nation and, without coal, most defense plants cannot operate; sitdown strikers have halted work in the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company, with more than a hundred million in defense contracts awaiting fulfillment. And the same story can be told of a dozen other important units in the national defense effort.

There can be no excuse, at a time like this, for such a situation. Whether the fault be on the side of management or of labor, it is inexcusable. Life or death for freedom is the world stake today and any man, union leader or manufacturing executive, who is responsible for stoppage of defense work is neither more nor less than traitor to his country.

President Roosevelt, inexplicably, seems not disturbed by this stabbing in the back of American war effort. Yet the situation is enough to make all patriots sick at heart.

Even though the President protests there is no cause for alarm, congress can, fortunately, take the situation into its own hands and, in this emergency, doff the velvet glove and let the strength of the national fist be felt.

Labor has lost more in public goodwill in the past two months than it had gained in years previously. Three-fourths of the people of the nation condemn the leaders of organized labor for an outrageous state of affairs.

Most people, however, still have faith in the Americanism and patriotism of the great bulk of the rank and file of labor. The public generally believes that the members of unions have allowed themselves to be used as dupes, in many cases, of men who have assumed leadership only in order to carry out the sabotage campaign ordered from Berlin.

It is possible, too, that in some instances industrial executives have provoked labor disturbances for the same basic reason. Whichever theory is true, it is time, past time, that the nation rooted out, for once and for all, every agent of an enemy power, and placed control of organized labor exclusively in the hands of men who will always put the United States and its safety first.

A thought here for that stock company of 15,000 Italians, now making one-day stands through Eritrea in the hair-raising melodrama, "Surrounded."

Any port in a storm, and we suppose Carol and his Magda ought to be grateful for even the Chile reception.

"You understand you've been brought here for drinking?" barked an Ohio court, as it eyed the battered defendant. "Thanks, your honor," said the fellow. "Make mine rye."

The world's bookkeeping has long passed the common understanding. People are pitching into wars now who can't afford peace.

Monstrous, Yet Ludicrous

There is peculiar reminder of the "skunk fight" method of name-calling in politics in the Nazi answer to President Roosevelt's public announcement that America will not tolerate the destruction of freedom and democracy in the world, that we are aligned on the side of morality and decency in international relations.

The President's statement was hardly spoken before Herr Dr. Goebbels, fountain of the poisonous slime that passes for news in Germany, was on the air with a ready response. Roosevelt, he said, was a man of overpowering ambition and had no desire but to plunge the western hemisphere into war in order that he alone might become dictator of the western world! Particularly he warned the weak and small nations of South America to beware Yankee invasion of their territories!

There is something so monstrous and yet ludicrous about Adolf Hitler's accusing anyone else of having personal ambitions to ruthless dictatorship that it is hard to believe even Germans could listen to him. We all know, though, that propaganda however simple and however ridiculous becomes effective through repetition. No surprise is it that Hitler now adopts in foreign relations the bulldozing methods that propelled him into lustful power at home.

Commonly employed by the ruthless, one of the most effective tricks of political propaganda is that of accusing one's opponent of exactly what one himself is suspected of or is guilty of. Known all over the world as a liar and a thief, Hitler now wishes to distract attention from his own foulness by accusing America of the very crimes which Hitler brought to such a high degree of frightful efficiency.

Politicians know that the man who defends himself rather than attacks others will be defeated; they know that the traditional answer to a charge is to accuse the rival of the same motives. By such methods the skunk achieves splendid isolation in the woods. He never defends; he only attacks.

Science Wins Again

One of the most dramatic stories of recent years has been that of a battle raging over a vast area of Brazil—a battle almost as vital to America as that in the Atlantic.

This Brazilian warfare now has come to final victory. The Anopheles Gambiae, is to all intents and purposes, wiped out in the Western Hemisphere. It has been wiped out by an international army of scientists who began their fight in 1930 and waged it to a successful conclusion during the last half of 1940.

There are few stories to equal that of Anopheles Gambiae. It is a carrier of an extremely virulent type of malaria, native to Africa and brought to this hemisphere either by airplane or aboard one of the fast French destroyers at that time serving the airline between Dakar and Natal. It was first discovered on this side of the ocean by a member of the staff of the Rockefeller Foundation and immediately the foundation and the Brazilian government undertook to eradicate it.

Through the years the fight continued until, in 1939, the mosquito had been pushed back from strongholds in the river valleys and the coastal shelf of northern Brazil. Yet still it infested an area of perhaps 12,000 square miles. Surrounding this area with a line of fumigation posts to keep it from breaking into new territory, the Foundation workers began a concerted advance to narrow the boundaries. Breeding places were cleaned up and buildings fumigated. By mid-1940 the mosquito had been cornered in the Jaguaribe Valley and there was concluded the 10-year fight. In the last 47 days of 1940 even the most intense search could not uncover any evidence of the enemy, potentially more dangerous than a great army.

All that remains now is the mopping up and the prevention of further landings. Stringent control methods are expected to accomplish the latter end. Science, which can kill, more often saves.

Georgia Editors Say:

PATRIOTIC BUT NOT GUILTY

(From The Savannah Morning News.)

Georgia's general assembly correctly expressed the will of the people in refusing to grant to a private corporation the right of eminent domain over private and public property in this state for the purpose of building oil pipe lines. Georgia remains unwavering in its patriotism and should the federal government decide to lay pipe lines across the state in order to effectively carry out the national defense program, the people of this state would not oppose any such project. But for a private corporation to demand the right to construct pipe lines across this state for the purpose of enriching itself and not with the intention of passing the savings in transportation costs to the people is quite another matter, and the legislature has wisely rejected this proposal, even though it was presented under the clever camouflage of a national defense project.

Such a surrender of sovereignty to the big oil interests would have been a serious mistake and detrimental to the best interests of the people of this state. The members of the general assembly deserve credit for refusing to be stampeded into literally giving away valuable state rights merely because the oil interests resorted to highly questionable strategy to obtain those rights.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

MEANING OF A FORECAST WASHINGTON, April 2.—It is authority, that one of the important reasons for the British military investment in Greece was a confident prediction of Yugoslav assistance to Germany given by Colonel William J. Donovan to the British commander in the Mediterranean, General Sir Archibald Wavell. Donovan bet his reputation as an observer on the Yugoslav's courage in a long talk with Wavell in Egypt immediately following his tour of the Balkans. And independent sources here believe Donovan's report was a big factor in the ultimate decision on Balkan policy made by Wavell, British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and General Sir John Dill.

It was disclosed in this space some time ago that the British had assurance Yugoslavia would stand firm before going into Greece, but it is particularly interesting that this assurance should have come in part from an American. In truth, Donovan and Constantine Fotich, the wise, earthy, courageous Yugoslav minister here, are the only two men who can claim to have been right from the start about the course of events at Belgrade.

Being right was not easy. It was an open secret that the Yugoslav foreign minister, Cincar-Markovitch, was acting in the German interest. Although civilization stopped at Dover for the British-educated regent, Prince Paul, he was too over-refined a man to achieve boldness. And the war minister, General Pesitch, was a fussy, long-retired old fellow, chiefly interested in bridge at his club, who had been appointed chiefly because his fiery predecessor, General Neditch, could not be trusted not to take a crack at the Italians in Albania.

Fortunately, Donovan gave more careful attention to Yugoslavia than any of the other countries he visited in the Balkans. A frank conversation with the new premier, General Dusan Simovitch, and belief that nothing but the Serbian army officers, were what convinced him that nothing but the Yugoslav give in. As for Fotich, he had nothing to go on but his knowledge of his own people. In the dark days, just before the Belgrade appeasers were chased from office, he was realistic enough to admit that there was only a "two per cent chance" that his country would make a stand. Yet he, too, bet his reputation, even on a two per cent chance, until the very last and blackest hour.

COPPER, LEAD, BAUXITE Now that Donovan and Fotich have been shown to be right, none of the formerly pessimistic experts question the vast improvement of the Balkan situation. Essentially, as everyone has pointed out, this improvement flows from the fact that Yugoslav resistance will prevent the Germans from flanking the British in Greece, and will force them to run the risk of general Balkan war if they wish to drive the British from Europe. In certain agreeable details of the picture which remain to be drawn in, however.

The first of these is the fact that, besides using the Balkans as their breadbasket, the Germans are also heavily dependent on Yugoslavia for three vital war materials—copper, lead and bauxite. The large copper mines at Bor, in western Serbia, were squeezed by the Germans from their French owners after the French collapse, and paid for incidentally by the worthless paper printed by the Vichy government to meet the costs of the German occupation. Copper, the essential metal in shell manufacture, was the one heavy war material of which the Germans were short when the war started, and besides the mines at Bor their only other source of copper is believed to be in Spain. Like the lead mines at Trepcia, the Bor copper deposits are in the easily defended part of Yugoslavia, and, incidentally, the world's largest supply of bauxite, which will have to be abandoned if the Germans attack, their machinery at least can be ruined, and production of this basic metal of aluminum manufacture thus stopped for some time.

The second agreeable detail, if so important a possibility can be called a detail, is the potential effect of the Yugoslav resistance on Mussolini. The best informed officials feel fairly confident that the Yugoslav resistance will prevent the Germans from attacking Albania, have knocked the last props out from under the Fascist regime. Although the Germans will hardly let Fascism collapse for good in Italy, they are likely to have to strain themselves seriously by sending large additional forces into the Italian peninsula. Furthermore, they will no longer be able to depend on the Italians even for the feeble sort of war effort they have made to date.

AUDACIOUS BUT WISE The epic event at Belgrade does not alter the sensible estimate of Colonel Donovan to our military intelligence that Britain's Balkan adventure was the "most audacious, but probably the wisest," strategic move made by the British in the war to date.

It is audacious because the risks are still very great. The terrain, of course, is extremely unfavorable to mechanized warfare. So far as men go, faced with the 1,250,000 men of the Greek, Turkish and British armies, the Germans are at present heavily outnumbered. In order to bring up a counterbalancing force, they will have to use their mobile striking power, thus lessening the invasion threat to Britain, and also subject their railroad and inland waterway system to an appalling strain. But the Germans already have in Bulgaria one of their six air fleets, borrowed from Belgium, and they may choose to make further inroads on the force available for air attacks on Britain.

As there is little transport to disrupt in the Balkans, air superiority does not have the tremendous value it had in France. Yet the air superiority of the Germans is sufficient to make overconfidence foolish.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

Memories

Of Church.

When a boy, I lived for years in a town called Birkdale, about 18 miles north of Liverpool on the Lancashire coast.

My father was strict about many things, but more so than most fathers about the Sabbath and attendance at church. We were Methodists and the church of our family membership was about two miles away from our home.

Among other things father did not permit on a Sunday was travel in any form of public conveyance. His argument was that use of such vehicles involved Sunday labor for the men who operated them and he would not permit his family to encourage it. So hocks and street cars were not available to any of us on Sundays.

I can well remember how all of us—I was about a dozen years old and the eldest of four—used to walk those two miles, each way, to church services in the morning every Sunday. On Sunday afternoons we children had to make the round trip, afoot, again, to attend Sunday school. They held Sunday school in the afternoons, then.

However, he had mercy on young feet on Sunday evenings and, while he made the trip for the third time, mother and we young 'uns were allowed to stay at home then.

It was on such Sunday evenings that I read, out of father's library, Scott and Dickens and Thackeray and Shakespeare and Milton and the other grand old books. (Novel reading was also forbidden on Sundays, but I had a way of getting around that I'll tell about some other time, perhaps.)

Novelist

And Preacher.

The minister of our church was, in addition to his profession as a preacher, a popular novelist of the time. I forget the title of a single book he wrote, but they were best sellers of that day. His name was Hocking, I recall.

He was a very popular preacher and the church was full at every service. But he was regarded by some of the older, more orthodox members as inclined to be a little too sensational, too radical in some of his views.

I can remember one member, a stern and forbidding middle-aged man, who always sat in the next pew in front of ours. He would sing the hymns in a great, booming voice and he had a trick of standing, head thrown back, with his hands clasped behind his back.

It was the habit of this man to show his disapprobation at something the preacher had said by stalking out of the church in the middle of the sermon. He never missed a Sunday morning service, but it was exceedingly rare when, displeased in every line and move, he didn't clump down the aisle and out the door. The sermon was over. I used to wait, with rather awed expectancy, for him to leave.

Strange, isn't it, how I remember these things and the reputation of the minister, when I was so young at the time and when, too, of all the sermons I heard, there is only one sentence of them all I recall to this day. I don't recall the subject of the preacher's sermon that day, but he said, in its course, "Every man believes in something, even though it may be only his own disbelief."

Another Church. Our real home was in Liverpool; we only lived in Birkdale for the years while we children were young. Birkdale was a quiet, residential place, supposed to be better for the upbringing of children than the great city of Liverpool.

Our church in Liverpool was directly across the street from home, so there was no problem in walking to and fro three times a Sunday. Dressed in our best, my boyhood costume for Sunday consisted of an Eton jacket, broad white collar, long gray pants and a derby hat. Queer little cuss I must have been.

When I was a little older they used to come for me on week-nights to play the organ or piano for prayer meetings and other midweek events. I didn't like it and, one prayer meeting night, played a current popular song from a musical comedy—which happened to fit the words—for the singing of "Abide With Me." Somebody recognized it, though I can't imagine what a sinner who would attend the theater was doing there, and I got out of the organ-playing chore, in disgrace.

And, to close these reminiscences with a coincidence, there was another church with an exceedingly popular minister a few blocks away from our home. When I left home and came to this side of the Atlantic I forgot all about that popular preacher. I came to Atlanta. And found him, again, as pastor of an Atlanta church.

Wartime Newspapers

The wartime newspapers of London were as interesting to me as the wartime people.

They are limited on paper, you know, and run only six pages daily and 12 on Sunday. But they still issue four and five editions a day.

Outside of a few regular departments, such as sports, theaters and gardens, most everything in the papers has something to do with the war. But the letters-to-the-editor writers will not be denied their normal pastime of sounding off on both heavy and trivial matters. I remember one during the winter from a fellow who had seen a white blackbird in the park.

The big war developments of each day are covered in general, but usually not in detail. The London newspapers operate under a self-censorship, and detail would give information to the enemy. In many ways, this self-censorship results in less information getting out than would government censorship.

Gives No Locations. As good an example as any is each day's recounting of the previous night's raid. You yourself heard the planes, the guns, and three different alerts during the night. Next day you learn from the papers that a few bombs were dropped in "a London district," a theater, church and fire station were hit, some people were buried in a shelter but were dug out alive, and that a Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were killed.

They give no locations or addresses, and unless some of last night's bombs sounded close enough to make you go out exploring this morning, you never know what part of town the hits were in. They don't even tell which Murphys were killed. There are 214 Murphys in the London phone book, and probably thousands who aren't in. If you know some Murphys, it gives you the heebie-jeebies.

You'd be surprised how much meaning there is in a six-page newspaper. I used to get two every morning and three of an evening, and I couldn't read every word by any means.

The papers always tell what the RAF did to some German city the night before. Also they often publish the German communiqué on the same subject.

The news and headlines naturally are often toned to ridicule or belittle the enemy, but it seems to me there is surprisingly little fanaticism in the news handling. I never saw what I'd call an "atrocity" story in the papers.

If there is any big American development about helping Britain, or any Hollywood news, it is played up big. Otherwise there is little news from America.

One Dig At U. S. I saw only one dig at the United States for not coming into the war. That was in December, when the Daily Sketch had a rather nasty "Modern Aesop's Fable" about "The Careful Eagle"—meaning Uncle Sam. The others seem to lean over backward to appreciate the help we are giving.

The editorial cartoons are always on the war, usually lampooning the Axis. But there are light-hearted panels, too, on the complexities of civilian wartime life. For example, after London's big fire, one cartoon showed a dirty, weary fireman standing knee-deep in debris, rolling up his firehose. And a typical Mr. Milquetoast approached him and said, "You haven't seen my fountain pen, I suppose?"

Most of the papers have a daily column about personalities. These are never gossipy, and always complimentary. All the papers, including the staid Times, still run a daily cross-word puzzle. Also, most have daily short stories.

A Chess Column. The News has a chess column, and on Mondays a long nature article. Hardly a day passes but there is some light feature story from the zoo. The film review of the Sunday Express recently had an article entitled "Is Walt Disney Slipping?"

I can't make much of the sports pages—usually just half a page—because cricket, rugby, soccer, and football are all the same to me. There is horseracing somewhere, and there are two greyhound tracks. Also there is hockey and cross-country foot-racing.

Each day, each paper has some long special article on its feature page. Usually it is a detailed discussion, by some expert, of what military tactics Britain must use to win the war. The proposals aren't all alike, by any means. Which is something you'd never see under a dictator.

Turkey Gets Rare Map. Pope Pius has sent to Turkish Prime Minister Refik Saydam in Istanbul a gift consisting of a copy of a map made in 1546 by Giacomo Gastaldi showing the Ottoman empire at the height of its power and the concepts of the day of the geography between Danzig and the Bosphorus.

brought no news to the war department about the hunt for Villa.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS Most of the sighing for the "good old days" is sighing for what was not. It is a popular escapist habit and does no great harm. There are those, for instance, who think it would be a fine thing if we could go back to the days when the churches handled charity along with the assistance of those organizations which handed out baskets at certain periods of the year.

We are living in a new world whether we like it or not. And unorganized charities could no more begin to handle the organization of hospitals, clinics, and general relief problems than they could settle or handle the affairs of Europe. This stubborn refusal to face facts and efforts to return to kerosene lamps just because electricity has shown us what once was hid in the dark corners where the lamp light never reached, is one reason our problems are so difficult to solve.

With nothing at all to promote, without having consulted a single social worker or welfare official, it is my opinion that the current grand jury, composed of splendid men, nevertheless were misled into a reactionary step when they reduced the tax millage available for relief.

The suffering persons are there. They cannot be argued away by charts, statistics or figures. They are there. And they are hungry and miserable. Most of them are sick. They are there. Not only are they there but also it is true they have been receiving inadequate aid.

New economic conditions and entirely new social problems assumed by government make it impossible for any system of charity to do the job except a well-organized one administered by government.

As a matter of fact, the old-time system, handled by churches and other basket-of-old-clothes groups, never did a good job. Their problems were fewer. They met them even more inadequately than the present needs are being met. They were well meaning, of course. But they didn't do the job. No amount of sighing for "the good old days" will bring them back or make them seem to have done a good job.

$241,000 DIRECT RELIEF In 1940 there was spent for total relief in Fulton county $466,000. Of that amount $241,000 was for direct relief.

This $241,000 for direct relief went for emergency cases, relieved while being investigated, and for other emergencies. The rest of the total of $466,000 spent on relief went for the WPA certificates, for children's relief, for social security, state welfare and for the other private, and vitally necessary, agencies assisted by the county so that the county may not have the full burden of them.

The fact that of $466,000 almost $250,000 went for direct and emergency relief is a fine tribute to the administration. It is a splendid showing. Those who know the terrific demands on that administration may applaud them for getting this much into the ever-pressing emergencies and still keeping up their payments to other agencies and governmental obligations.

There are some who never think of the tremendous burden now assumed by government and of the cost of it, who might, for selfish and propaganda purposes, seek to say, "Of $466,000 only $241,000 was spent for relief. This would be done only in a deliberate attempt to mislead and confuse."

The fact that they were able to give to emergency, direct relief more than half the $466,000 spent on relief is perhaps the finest showing made by any other county organization in the entire United States. That $241,000 was spent in such a fashion was magnificent.

NOT ENOUGH MONEY There just isn't enough money. The county commissioners, confronted by the grand jury action, took what steps they could to make it up. The very great trouble with most of our problems is the tendency to strain at gnats and swallow camels.

One hears of some WPA fault, one or two in thousands of good deeds, and damns the whole WPA. One still hears the old shovel pokes despite the fact that all over this nation there are hundreds of public buildings, parks, dams, bridges and roads built by good, efficient WPA labor.

One hears of a family which has got one person to work and which is still getting a relief check. Therefore this type mind damns the whole system of relief.

There aren't enough case workers because there isn't enough money for relief and as much of it as possible is being spent on relief. Administration, therefore, is cut to the bone.

There are faults in all our systems. But they are working and doing a good job under difficulties. The extremely few failures merely serve to emphasize what a really good job has been done.

I come back to the original statement: Grady hospital records show that many children and some adults come in suffering from malnutrition.

Tuberculosis is increasing in the ranks of the poor. It already is a very dangerous problem. It multiplies in the ranks of those living on relief faster than in any other group. Food, and enough of it, usually will prevent tuberculosis.

Real estate men of Atlanta know the relief agency has not enough money to pay the pitiful rents of many on relief. Those people are hungry, diseased and pitiful. They will never be an asset.

We ought either to let them starve and die off in a hurry or really do something about it. This slow method of killing them off is not pleasant.

Our Loveliest Flowers Are Only Weeds That Got Cultivated

By ROBERT QUILLLEN.

When ordinary politicians express admiration for the common man, it is obviously a bid for votes. The common man is a majority. But in the course of our history a number of great and wise men, too proud to be flatterers, have praised the sterling qualities of the common people and expressed the belief that the judgment of all the people is more to be trusted than that of any one man or group.

Strangely enough, nobody has ever analyzed the matter to determine why the common man seems so admirable to those who consider themselves uncommon.

Yet the explanation is easily found. The simple truth is that the common man is all of us, and the best are only the common plus the veneer provided by a few generations of wealth.

There is no denying that breeding counts, in men as in other animals. Inherited wealth, and the culture and position it provides, enable young men to associate with young women of the same type and take their pick of the best. Family pride and environment then combine to develop a superior class, but the founder of the family probably was superior only as a pirate.

At the bottom of the social structure are "trash" of the Oxie type; whipped by poverty; woefully ignorant; dominated by foolish superstitions; often completely illiterate. Yet even these are surprisingly sensible; sound in their moral judgments; capable of noble unselfishness, and admirable in their grim endurance. They need only money and opportunity to climb into the middle class.

The middle class, which comprises most of America, is the one orators have in mind when they speak of "the people." And these are common people—the farmers, mechanics, small merchants and professional men. Their chief characteristic is the ambition that strives to lift each generation above the last.

Ben Fortson Starts Race Well Ahead of Time

State Senator Ben Fortson, who lives down in old Washington-Wilkes, tells me he is running for state treasurer against George Hamilton. I wish he were out for some other job against somebody I don't know and like as I do George. Because I'd like to see Ben Fortson land himself a good place.

When I wrote "run" it was a misfit. For Ben Fortson hasn't run—or walked—in a good many years. As the result of an accident he has been paralyzed from the waist down for a long, long time.

Throughout the legislative session he was one of the most popular men around the Ansley. I didn't see him at the capitol. But in his wheel chair in the hotel lobby, his legs swathed in a dark blanket, he seemed always holding a reception.

Nobody I know has a more pleasant smile or a brighter mind than Ben Fortson. He likes people and they like him. They flock around him—orchestra leaders, blues singers, bell hops, managers and various assistants—and politicians.

While I'm not trying to plug for him—for I keep out of politics—there's no reason Senator Fortson wouldn't make a good treasurer for the state. He's thoroughly well except for those legs. He gets about, too. In a truck. George, a Negro who has been his friend and servant for many years, fixes a pair of planks for a runway and rolls his boss into the truck and then becomes chauffeur. At their destination, he rolls him out. They don't let paralysis keep them from going places. Especially on fishing trips.

Last wheel-chair state official I knew was Guyton McLendon, secretary of state away back yonder. His hands were like bird claws, he looked to be at the point of death. But he had a mind and kept it working. I have known few men who were so well informed—and able to impart information to a young reporter who wanted to know.

Andy Smith.

Perhaps a number of Atlantans will be glad to learn that Andy Smith is to be manager this coming season of the King and Prince hotel, on St. Simons Island, owned by the Cannon interests.

Because so many Atlantans have known Andy so long—as boss of the Hotel Savannah. He quit that and got into Chatham county politics—which takes a Machievelli or a Talleyrand to lick—and then went to Durham, N. C.

The King and Prince is an institution on St. Simons. You can stroll in wearing tails and white tie or a pair of trunks. The service is the same. And nobody asks why you haven't shaved in four days.

Further up the coast, at Sea Island Beach, things are swank. But not on old St. Simons. Nobody asks a darn thing except whether you've got a quarter.

The King and Prince had a fire and other hard luck and changed hands. But who cares? So long as it will be open and running this summer, I'm glad to hear Andy will be in charge. Maybe I can sign checks against next comin' pay day.

Home Brew Again. A few Georgia counties are "wet," permitting sale of liquor. Many more ban liquor but sanction beer. Colquitt, of which Moultrie is the seat, prohibits both.

Now the Moultrie Observer notes a drive by the sheriff against makers and vendors of "home brew." At 10 cents per bottle, it is reported, it produces a "cheap drunk." And, I should think, a mighty sick one.

Defense Probe Plan of Vinson

Voted 324 to 1

Dual Inquiry To Begin at Conclusion of 2 Weeks' Recess.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—By the overwhelming vote of 324 to 1 the lower house today passed a resolution by Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, authorizing an investigation by two of its standing committees of all phases of the national defense program.

One of the investigations would be conducted by the Naval Affairs Committee, of which Representative Vinson is chairman, and the other by the Military Affairs body, headed by Representative May, of Kentucky.

Dividing jurisdiction, the two committees will concern themselves with national defense matters coming within their respective scope; that is to say, the naval committee will confine its inquiry to defense works coming under the Navy Department, while the Military Affairs Committee will deal with that section of the defense program coming under the War Department.

Following passage of the resolution Representative Vinson said he would undertake to organize his committee and be ready to launch the inquiry shortly after Congress ends the two-week recess on April 14, which was voted today. He indicated also that he would consult with President Roosevelt before getting under way.

Similar plans are in the making by Chairman May, of the Military Affairs group.

Already an inquiry into national defense activities has been approved by the senate, with Senator Truman, of Missouri, named as the chairman of a special committee established for that purpose.

Particular emphasis will be placed, Vinson said, on the failure of more defense industries to be located in the south.

12-Point Program. In urging passage of the resolution, Representative Vinson outlined the following 12-point program which he said his committee would undertake:

1. To ascertain the progress of the national defense building program.
2. To ascertain if the government is getting value received for money that is being spent.
3. To ascertain the profit that is being made on contracts.
4. To ascertain the best type of contract that is to be used; that is, by competitive bidding or by negotiated contract.
5. To ascertain if there have been delays in performance of contracts and delivery of material, and if so what has brought it about.
6. To ascertain if there has been an appreciable increase in the cost of material, and if so to determine what has caused the same.

7. To find out if any additional legislation should be enacted to expedite the program.

8. To investigate what effect strikes have had on the fulfillment of contracts.

9. To see if there has been a proper distribution of defense contracts throughout the country so that the nation's productive capacity can be fully utilized.

10. To determine whether the nation's facilities are being utilized to the fullest extent, and all contributing their share to the defense program.

11. To see if there is sufficient training of technical personnel to provide adequate skilled labor to eliminate shortage of such workers.

12. To determine the priority of national defense contracts over commercial production.

Representative Vinson said particular emphasis would be given by his committee to the distribution of defense contracts and the location of new defense industries.

"Too many plants have been located in areas where defense industry is already concentrated," he declared. "By doing this we are uprooting families, shifting population and leaving great resources untapped."

After Emergency, What? "When our defense efforts slow down we will find that we have over-built and over-developed areas. This will be our harvest when the eyes of a very few shortsighted and perhaps selfish-dollar-a-year men are opened."

"Of seven and one-half billion in defense contracts let (this excludes ship contracts and supplies where seaboard states must dominate) slightly over one-half billion went to the 11 southern states. This is approximately 7 per cent. This 7 per cent compares with the value of manufactures in the 1937 manufactures census in these states of over 11 per cent of the national total."

"Up to March 1, allocation has been made of 302 new facilities for defense production. Of these 302, only 24, valued at 166 million dollars, have been located in the 11 states of the south. The remainder of the 302 (278), at a total cost of one billion six hundred million dollars, were located throughout the country."

Axis Chieftains Map Action If U. S. Joins War

Matsuoka and Mussolini Agree on Joint Plan in Rome Talks.

ROME, April 2.—Japanese Foreign Minister Matsuoka has agreed with Premier Mussolini and Hitler on a joint plan of action against the United States in the event of American involvement—declared or undeclared—in hostilities against the Axis powers, authoritative Italians indicated today.

The Japanese statesman said goodbye to Mussolini before returning tomorrow to Berlin for further conferences with Hitler. He also talked today with Pope Pius XII at a 65-minute interview at the Vatican, one of the longest any statesman has ever had with the pontiff. Those in a position to know said they surveyed the whole world situation.

Diplomatic observers ruled out any possibility of a Japanese attempt at mediation between Britain and the European Axis powers, taking as their cue Matsuoka's declaration of conference in victory for Japan and her allies in Europe, Africa and Asia.

On the other hand, foreign observers still were skeptical as to how far Matsuoka had pledged his country's direct aid in the war effort of Italy and Germany.

Ceremonies in honor of the Japanese visitor were concluded with a gymnastic drill of Fascist youth this afternoon and a dinner tonight at the Japanese embassy, followed by a reception.

Veal, Duncan Dismissals To Receive Airing

Fulton Commission Promises Consideration of Two Cases.

Two discharged employees of the Fulton county tax investigator's office yesterday received assurance from the county commission that conditions surrounding their dismissal would be given a thorough airing upon the return of County Attorney Hughes Spalding to the city.

The men, who asked for a month's pay "because we were fired on 15 minutes' notice," were Hubert Veal and Clyde Duncan, who, it was stated by Veal, were dropped from county pay rolls suddenly on February 25.

Another question of remuneration was settled by commissioners when they voted to rescind action taken on March 17 stipulating that a former county employee, Arthur Atkinson, be placed on a special pension list at $50 monthly.

Atkinson, former county policeman and later guard at the colored industrial farm, was discharged following a fight with another county employee and then was ordered placed on the special pension pay roll.

Duncan and Veal, it was stated, were released after Attorney Spalding filed a report with commissioners that Duncan was doing work for which the state was paying him while he was on the county pay roll for the same task. Veal, it was said, was working for Duncan.

Lower Rates on Melons Asked of Freight Group

Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder yesterday called upon the Southern Freight Association to reduce freight rates on watermelons in time to affect this year's crop.

"The greatest handicap the melon growers have had in the past has been high freight rates," the commissioner wrote in the Georgia Market Bulletin.

"Some of the transcontinental railroads and connecting lines have recently reduced rates voluntarily on watermelons and cantaloupes from California to markets in the east and middle west."

Linder's appeal for freight reductions was addressed to J. D. Kerr, chairman of the Southern Freight Association.

CAA To Spend $1,218,144 on State Airports

Atlanta Will Receive $221,000 Over Present Allotment.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration plans to spend $1,218,144 on Georgia airport projects in the year beginning July 1. Atlanta will receive $221,000 over the $250,000 already appropriated for this year.

The program, subject to congressional approval of budget estimate, was submitted recently to the House Appropriations Committee. The record of hearings was made public yesterday.

The Georgia fund would be used to complete seven of the eight projects undertaken during this fiscal year. The projects, with this year's expenditures and next year's estimates, included in addition to Atlanta:

The CAA said it would have spent $150,000 on the Camp Gordon airport project at Atlanta by July 1 and included no estimate for the new year.

F. D. R. Seeks Funds To Develop Chromium

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—Because foreign sources of supply have been blocked by war in Europe, President Roosevelt requested congress today for funds to expedite the development of a domestic supply of chromium, used as an alloy of steel.

Through Budget Director Harold D. Smith, he informed a house appropriations subcommittee that the stock on hand was being "depleted rapidly" under the national defense program and that it was necessary to develop a domestic supply of the metal "as soon as possible."

Intrastate Trade Wholesalers Held Subject to Wage Law

Applies If Goods Are Received in Interstate Commerce, Judge Robert Russell Rules in Case Here.

Federal Judge Robert L. Russell ruled yesterday that wholesale dealers distributing goods only in intrastate trade are subject to the wage and hour law if the goods are received in interstate commerce. James G. Johnson, acting regional director of the wage and hour division, said the ruling was the first on the question of coverage of wholesalers.

Injunction Sought.
The decision was handed down in the case of General Phillip B. Fleming, administrator, vs. Alterman Brothers, wholesale grocers, in which an injunction was sought to restrain violations of the fair labor standards act. The defense contended it was conducting a purely intrastate business. Johnson interpreted the decision as considerably broadening the concept of interstate commerce.

In granting the injunction Judge Russell upheld the administrator's contention that Alterman's employees were engaged in interstate commerce so as to be subject to the provisions of the statute.

"Whether the apparently local transaction takes place at the beginning or end of interstate commerce would not seem to be material," Judge Russell said.

Engaged in Commerce.
"He who ships interstate is unquestionably engaged in commerce, and one whose business is to all practical purposes exclusively the receipt and distribution of such shipments by wholesale and in such manner as to produce a constant and continuous recurrence thereof is likewise as definitely engaged in commerce as the day-in, day-out receipt and distribution of such goods as he who ships them," Judge Russell concluded.

Edgar Watkins Sr., attorney for Alterman Brothers, said no definite decision to appeal had been reached, but that he was of the opinion an appeal would be made.

No More Jobs Open at Capitol —Talmadge

More Applications Than in All Experience, Governor Writes.

There are no more jobs open at the state capital.

That is the word direct from Governor Talmadge who said yesterday in his newspaper, The Statesman, "I have had more applications this time than in all of my political experience put together."

He added, in a front page editorial, "You know, it is always sad for anyone not to be able to give his friends jobs. I am sorry that I cannot."

He indicated that his economy administration would slash the public pay roll by $6,000,000 and reduce the number of employees by 2,500 persons.

Commenting on his drive to reduce the public pay roll, the Governor said, "If the state needed these jobs, I would keep them; but I got along without them during my former terms."

Clear Day Smiles On Most of East

By The Associated Press.

Skies east of the Mississippi river generally were clear yesterday with the exception of an area along the New England coast.

Rain was reported in sections of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri, however, as a storm center developing in the west moved eastward.

Low temperatures reported yesterday included Detroit, 26; Buffalo, 24; Albany, 29; Chicago, 33; Cincinnati, 34; Boston, 36; Des Moines, 36, and Burlington, 21.

Restitution Made To Employees Here

Restitution totaling $375 has been made to 22 employees of the Atlanta Cabinet Company, Inc., it was announced yesterday by James G. Johnson, acting regional director of the wage and hour division, Department of Labor.

The company made restitution without court action, Johnson said. The money represented the difference between wages and overtime pay received and what the employees were entitled to since October 24, 1938, under the fair labor standards act, he added.

Funds for 205 Airports Asked By House Body

$8,750,000 Sought for Counter-Espionage, Anti-Sabotage Work

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—Funds to develop 205 airports and carry on other national defense activities were included in a $212,087,200 appropriation recommended today by the house appropriations committee to run the State, Justice and Commerce Departments and the federal judiciary for the next fiscal year.

The committee, which devoted about nine weeks to exhaustive hearings on the departments' needs, estimated that approximately $75,000,000 of the total was strictly for defense purposes. Although the total was $31,016,989 below the sum available to the agencies for the current fiscal year, only $873,480 of the reduction was made by the committee. The Budget Bureau did the rest of the trimming in estimates submitted to the group.

In three instances the committee increased the budget estimates to provide additional funds for the civilian pilot training program, the Justice Department's anti-trust division and a minor increase for salaries of supreme court employees. The Federal Bureau of Investigation would get $16,450,000 under the bill, of which $8,750,000 is for such activities as counter-espionage and anti-sabotage work. To enable the Justice Department to continue and expand its antitrust investigations, the committee added $750,000 to the Budget Bureau's recommendation for $1,575,000 for the department's anti-trust division.

Thurman Arnold, chief of the division, told the committee he was interested in seeing that the government "does not pay through the nose" for war materials and that prices for necessities of life do not soar.

Alien Problem.
In discussing the $66,257,500 Justice Department appropriation, the committee expressed hope that congress would pass legislation "that will effect a fair solution" of the problem of aliens against who deportation warrants have been issued but whose fathersland will not permit their return.

(A bill approved by the Justice Department to meet that problem is now pending before the rules committee.)

The appropriation committee was informed by the immigration and naturalization service that there were 4,200 such cases, of which 1,254 involved persons of Russian origin.

Appropriations recommended in the bill for the various departments were: State, $21,237,300; Commerce, $12,228,000; Justice, $66,257,500. For the federal judiciary, $12,314,400 was approved.

Start on Murphy School Forecast

Early start on a $75,000 unit of the $400,000 Murphy Junior High school was seen yesterday following conferences between Mayor LeCraw, C. H. Van Ormer, president of the Second Ward Alliance, and Councilman Joe Allen, of the second ward.

The conferees agreed that with the $23,000 earmarked for the improvement out of the 1935 bond issue, that WPA might be enlisted to provide the first unit of the structure, and that it and other needed school and other improvements could be completed from the one-mill special tax authorized by the Georgia legislature for capital improvements.

Lilla Farrell Will Observe Traditional Bridal Customs

• • • THE ANNOUNCEMENT made today of the wedding plans of Lilla Farrell and Herbert Hoefler, whose marriage takes place on April 19, reveals the interesting features concerning the traditional bridal custom of wearing "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue."

The "something blue" to be worn by the bride is a small sachet made of blue taffeta, the material having once been used to fashion a dress in the trousseau of her late mother, the former Jean McCallum, of New York. For her "something old" she will wear a string of exquisite pearls, also belonging to her mother and worn by her sister, Mrs. H. C. Widenhorn, of Arlington, N. J., the former Jean Farrell, at her wedding. Her "something new" will be a beautiful bit of jewelry to be given her by the groom-elect on the eve of the wedding. For her "something borrowed" the stately bride-elect will wear the cream satin wedding dress belonging to Mrs. Sam Meyer who, as Frances Sisson, wore it when she became a bride last fall.

The nuptials take place at 11:30 o'clock on Saturday, April 19, at the Cathedral of Christ the King. Father John Emmert will officiate in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends of the young couple. As the guests assemble a musical program will be presented on the organ by Vincent Hurley. Lilla will be given in marriage by her father.

After the ceremony the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Farrell, entertain at a breakfast at the Druid Hills Golf Club. Lilla's sister, Mrs. H. C. Widenhorn, will be the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Florrie Sisson and Margaret Hoefler, of Columbia, S. C., sister of the groom-elect. John D. McCallum, uncle of the bride-elect; Edgar Farrell, her cousin; E. W. Jones, of Ithaca, N. Y., and H. A. Hoffman will be the ushers. The groomsman selected include DeWitt Wilcox, Harold Goers and Carrington Hoefler, of Columbia, S. C.

A number of new parties are announced today to honor the couple. Next Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. William E. Farrell and Edgar Farrell will be hosts at a steak fry at their home on Powers Ferry road. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hoffman will be hosts at a buffet supper on April 12, and on April 13 Murray Keeler, of Whitesville, Mass., will be host at a cocktail party at the Mirador Room of the Capital City Club.

On April 14 Mrs. C. W. Carver gives a luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club for Lilla, and on April 15 Ruthanna Butters has planned a luncheon to be given at her home. A luncheon on April 16 at the Mirador Room at the Capital City Club will be given by Mrs. Dowdell Brown Jr., of Roanoke, Va. Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Sisson and Florrie Sisson entertain at a buffet supper on April 16, for the young couple, and parties have also been planned by Barbara Greene, Lillian Kennedy and Mrs. R. L. Williamson, the dates to be announced later.

Miss Tomlin Weds Merrill Leinbach At Chapel Rites

The Emory Theological Chapel formed the setting at high noon yesterday for the marriage of Miss Corrie Alice Tomlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edwin Tomlin, of Albany, and Merrill Ingham Leinbach, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Paul Eugene Leinbach. Dr. Louis D. Newton officiated.

Marcus Bartlett, pianist, and Waldo Sowell, violinist, presented music. The chapel was beautified with ferns against which were arranged calla lilies and white tapers held by three candelabra.

Ushers included Albert Cox, of Atlanta, and Searcy B. Slack Jr., of Decatur.

Miss Arline Taylor, maid of honor, wore a dress of ashen-roses hue featuring a jacket and a lace yoke. Her shoulder spray was of small blue iris and sprays of valley lilies and she wore navy blue accessories and an off-the-face hat of rose with navy veiling. Her pearls were the gift of the bride.

John Edwin Tomlin, father of the bride, gave her in marriage and Carl Leinbach, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride wore a suit of heavenly blue crepe with a picture hat of the same color, veiled in brown. Her accessories were of beige suede and she wore a single strand of pearls, loaned her by Miss Beverly Burgess. The dress featured a jacket with long sleeves and she wore a shoulder spray of white orchids and valley lilies.

The bride's mother wore a soft rose redingote with brown accessories and a shoulder cluster of roses. The groom's sister, Miss Ruth Leinbach, chose a rose dress with black accessories and beige coat.

The reception following the ceremony was given by the bride's parents at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Burgess, on North Decatur road. Assisting in entertaining were Misses Arline Taylor, Ruth Leinbach, Bessie Brown, Miriam Rudolph and Beverly Burgess.

The bride's table was centered by a wedding cake wreathed in small white blossoms and lighted by white tapers. The bride and groom will reside at 97-4 Gainesboro street, Boston, Mass.

Dancer Has Girdle Trouble in Film

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, April 2.—Deanna Durbin's house is for sale. The luxurious mansion (with swimming pool) cost Deanna $25,000. The first good bid gets it. . . . Deanna becomes Mrs. Vaughn Paul at 8:30 p. m. Friday, April 18. There will be a huge turnout at the Wilshire Methodist church and later at the reception at the Beverly Wilshire hotel. Around midnight the newlyweds will slip away—unobserved, they hope.

Hedy Lamarr insists she is under suspension by Metro. But the studio is just as vehement that Hedy is not suspended. This is the first time to my knowledge that a player has disagreed on this point with the boss. I believe Shirley Temple is occupying Freddie Bartholomew's former dressing room on the Metro lot. It is No. 22 and opposite Lana Turner's. I think Shirley is going to be glamorized at this studio, as there is talk of assigning Hairdresser Sidney Guilaroff to her. He is the lad who coiffures Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Laraine Day. Guilaroff, by the way, recently was visited by Garbo, who wants him to dress her locks for her forthcoming film. "First I must see the shape of your head," he told Garbo, and asked her to remove the big floppy hat. Garbo refused. They had quite a tussle before she reluctantly surrendered the old-fashioned chapeau. Greta's next shock came when Guilaroff suggested he cut her hair close to her head—it is now way beyond her shoulders. There will be no hair cut.

Lana Turner is not as easy to get on with as when she first started her film career. Success is sometimes dangerous for the young. Recently it was suggested that she have a teacher to improve her histrionics so her acting ability would keep pace with her current opportunities. But Lana refused. "When," she demanded, "would I have time for lessons?" There is always time—if you want it.

Alice Faye took her mother along on her S. S. America voyage, which is to be in the nature of a rest. And while you are on the boat, Alice, a little dieting might be a good idea. A recent glimpse of Miss Faye was marred by too much poundage. How to keep thin and healthy is quite a problem for movie actresses with a tendency to gain weight.

Reducing the Size of Stomach Should be Slow Process

By Dr. William Brady.

My dad weighs in the neighborhood of 210 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. He has an abnormal stomach size. In the last year he has been using a mechanical vibrator on his hand, rubbing it over his body. He thinks this makes him feel better, but it has not brought about any apparent reduction. Dad is 60 years old. Recently he saw a gadget that stands on the floor and has a large strap that goes around the body and vibrates the flesh. Mother thinks the machine would not be good for dad to use. What is your opinion? Will it reduce? If you consider it of any value, I can easily make one for dad at a fraction of the cost—I am a machinist. Dad is a traveling salesman and doesn't get much exercise. M. J.

Regular exercises will help reduction, provided a rational reduction diet is followed faithfully over a sufficient length of time. No reason why a traveling salesman may not follow such a diet and take the exercises regularly.

Neither a miniature vibrator nor the big strap shaker will reduce any one noticeably. Nor will massage or any kind of rub or pummel treatment. Nor any kind of bath or sweat treatment (except by the weight of water lost in sweating, which is invariably regained within a day or two).

If you have any reducing to do, you must do it yourself. No one else can do it for you.

In any case, diet is the main part of the reduction regimen. Exercise is of secondary importance, though it is important. Turning somersaults ALWAYS ON THE FLOOR OR GROUND, and not in the air as Webster has it, is hardly exercise, but help to keep one cheerful about the whole thing. Ol' Doc Brady, who writes this column when there's no bowling on account of wet greens, believes his morning rolls have kept him from becoming Old Crab Brady all these years.

With rare exceptions, every one who puts on excess flesh does it because he or she eats too much—that is painful to admit, perhaps, but it is the physiological truth. Generally, the surplus is piled up, not in a month or two, but insidiously over a period of years. Getting rid of the superfluous weight, the slacker flesh, should be a gradual process. That way, whatever good looks or good health one may have had B. O. may be retained or recovered. Whereas, any attempt to reduce in a hurry is pretty certain to impair personal appearance and health, too.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Cirrhosis of Liver.

Is anything serious likely to come from consuming about 100 glasses (12 ounces) of beer a week. It may not seem possible that a man can have such a thirst, but it is true. MRS. E. W. S.

Answer—There would be an excellent chance of achieving cirrhosis of the liver in a year or two. Mercury.

What would be the effect on the body of having your hands wet with a solution of corrosive sublimate if the skin does not absorb any of it? R. S.

Answer—No effect. A strong solution of corrosive sublimate (bichloride of mercury) would be likely to irritate the skin. It was formerly much used for disinfecting the surgeon's hands before an operation.

New Phrases Add Sparkle To Letters

The poor letters you've written—how they can haunt you! Jim, you're sure, thought your note a bore. Your fastidious new friend, Sue, must have found dozens of crude mistakes. But what can you do about your letters if you just aren't a "writer"?

Lots! A touch here and a touch there—and your letters would sparkle with personality. Did you start your note to Jim with an apology—"Meant to write sooner"? That's something you never, never do. Begin with a big smile: "Hurray for your nice newsy letters. I've read it FOUR times!"

Then did you peter off after the first paragraph or two, just try to fill space until the end of the page? Even the 'smallest tid-bit will sound more exciting if you say things vividly: "Some more of these spring days and I'll be like Toby the cat—just-a-settin' in the sun all day!"

And even the most fastidious friend will be impressed when you've checked up on letter etiquette. Ruled paper is taboo; let yours be plain—in cream, white, pale blue or gray. Watch your grammar, too!

Our 40-page booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions," gives dozens of helpful pointers on vocabulary, grammar, correct form. Has interesting sample letters to help you improve your friendly, social and business correspondence. Includes love letters.

MY DAY: The Dizzy Growth Of Fort Bragg

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—We had a smooth flight from Mobile, Ala., to Greensboro, N. C., but I must say that getting up at 4:45 a. m. seemed a trifle early! I was much impressed to be greeted at Hotel King Cotton by the proprietor and his daughter, who allowed us to go to bed for several hours.

The poor secret service man, however, who had met us and arranged to motor us to Fayetteville, said he had had no sleep because everyone was telephoning him to find out if we could drive 30 to 50 miles off our route to see some point of interest.

We proceeded leisurely by motor to Fayetteville and as we went through Fort Bragg we picked up Major Eugene Harrison, one of our former White House aides who is now aide to General Devers.

When the President's train pulled in, we had a few minutes before he got off and I had a chance to admire the tan acquired by all the fishermen of his party. The President looks not only tanned but very much rested and is in fine spirits.

The Governor of North Carolina and Mrs. Broughton came in his car soon after the President arrived. Then Mrs. Broughton, Miss Thompson and I, with Major Harrison, got into one car while the President, the Governor, the mayor and General Devers headed the procession in an open car. We drove down the main street to the old courthouse, built on arches in the old days so the slave market could be held underneath the building.

The drive through Fort Bragg was extraordinarily interesting. They have expanded rapidly. In fact, I heard the general say they put up a building of some kind every 32 minutes!

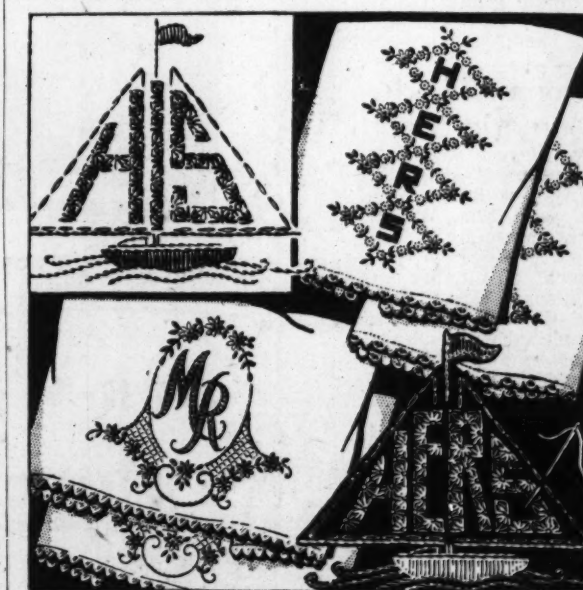

The camp stretches 25 miles in length and 11 miles across. The equipment is adequate for training, so the men are kept very busy. A great effort is being made to provide occupation at the camp for them during leisure hours. There is an athletic program, and a group of hostesses plan entertainments in the recreation rooms. In addition, there are three movie theaters running two shows a day.

Fayetteville is a comparatively small city and this sudden addition of 65,000 men certainly has strained every facility they have. The officers at the post, however, say that everyone in the city has co-operated marvelously and the efforts they have made to provide living quarters for the families of the noncommissioned officers, as well as for the officers' families, while keeping the rents at a reasonable level, are very much appreciated.

On the whole, the health of the boys seems to be about normal. When they were living in tents it was a trifle better than when they moved into barracks, but that is almost always true.

We drove slowly, watching them perform their usual tasks. I could not help being impressed by "Young America."

Movie Stars Keep Slim With Exercises Rather Than by Dieting

By Ida Jean Kain.

When you are bent on making yourself over, the fact that the screen stars have gone athletic is something to think about. They no longer keep thin by dieting; they keep slim with exercise. And they have the most beautiful figures in the world.

A beautiful figure depends on a certain difference between proportions. Most of the movie stars are on an ultra-streamlined scale, with waists that measure from nine to 11 inches smaller than the bust, and hips that either measure exactly the same as the bust or only a couple of inches more.

You probably wouldn't want to be that careful about your curves. It doesn't pay you a thousand a week just to look beautiful. But if you are to have a fairly good figure, your measurements must be within the limits of proportion with weight normal. With excessive weight, even proportionate measurements don't give you a good figure. There is no standard set of measurements that is perfect for your height. Occasionally you come across a chart which says your waist should measure 50 many inches for a given height. That is ridiculous. As with weight, ideal measurements depend on your structure. The Hollywood "rule of the wrist" is based on structure. According to this rule, your waist should be four and one-fourth times as large as your wrist; the hips, six times as large; thigh, three and one-half times; calf, two and one-fourth times the wrist measurement; the ankle, one and one-fourth times the size of the wrist.

This rule is too streamlined for the average woman, but the difference between the pivotal measurements—bust and waist and bust and hips—does tally with our requirements for proportion.

If you are of average height, your waistline should be at least eight inches less than the bust, and the hips not more than two or three inches larger.

Get out your trusty tape, see how your measurements tack up, and put them on record as the starting point for slimming. Diet won't change your proportions—that takes exercise.

Self-Analysis Often Proves Harmful to Personality

By Caroline Chatfield.

Dear Miss Chatfield: Does it pay to analyze your mind? I'm a young man 22 years old, of average intelligence, I think. I used to be able to laugh and joke and have a good time. When it became necessary for me to make my living I began to think of efficiency. I knew I had to be a self-improver and to be this I had to analyze myself completely. As a result I have lost my sense of humor. I scrutinize my mind before speaking on any subject and as a result I am terribly self-conscious. The more I tried to analyze this newly acquired disease the worse I got. I tried reading, comparing what I read with my own experience. Now people scare me to death. I can't even go to a crowd. Everything I say is pretense, all an effort to appear normal. I've come to the conclusion that self-analysis is very dangerous, that a person should be himself and forget the rules. Actually I am afraid for my mental state at the moment. Can you help me? WHAT-TO-DO.

power to stop it. He can school himself to look out at others just as he's been looking inside himself.

The first and greatest psychologist enunciated a great truth which people didn't grasp fully during his life, a truth of which we have only an inkling today. If anybody can understand and appreciate this truth it is a man who has lost almost his reason in a frantic effort to understand himself, improve himself and render himself more efficient. That truth is "He that would have his life must lose it."

Look up your old friends. Give them a treat, yourself a break. Abandon yourself to a few hours of enjoyment. Laugh and joke and have fun for one evening and you will have taken the first step in the right direction. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 2.—Delegates to the annual meeting of the Garden Club of Georgia, more than 300 strong, opened the 13th annual session of the organization in the Gold Room of the DeSoto hotel here this morning.

As special springtime weather, lack of which until today was worrying local garden members, appeared to delight visitors from all parts of the state and from other parts of the nation.

Tomorrow's events include the president's breakfast, which will feature a talk by Mrs. Guy Chase Meyers, publicity chairman of the National Council of Garden Clubs. At 10 o'clock the business sessions will resume, and the formal meeting will conclude with the election and installation of officers.

The group including official delegates from 115 garden clubs throughout the state, heard reports from Mrs. John Grant, of Atlanta, roadsides development chairman, who told of efforts toward the passage of a bill eliminating signs unsightly and detrimental to motorists' safety along highways; Mrs. Aubrey Mathews, of Rome, chairman of billboards and awards; Miss Mary Lou Phinizy, of Augusta, chairman of commissions and organization, who reported the admission of 18 new clubs this year; Mrs. Earl Clapp, Savannah, chairman of the Atlantic region of Clifton Forge, Va.

Guests for the convention include Mrs. Chase Meyers, national publicity chairman, and Mrs. Ambrose Clifton Ford, regional vice president of the Atlantic region of Clifton Forge, Va.

Yesterday's preliminary events included a cocktail party honoring members of the executive board of the state club, and a dinner meeting of the board, featuring reports of committee chairmen.

The table in the dining room was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a crystal bowl filled with yellow jorquils and narcissi.

The guest list included: Mrs. Virginia Wellborn, Marion Lovelace, Louise Schilling, Nelle Lusk, Eloise Lovelace, Cecile Lovelace and Mesdames George Costner, John Hryhor, Marshall Volberg and Clifton Lovelace.

Betrothed Couple Honored at Party

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Laws were hosts yesterday afternoon at an informal cocktail party in honor of Miss Josephine Clayton and her fiancé, Pete Latimer.

The table in the dining room was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth and centered with a graceful arrangement of spring flowers.

The affair was held at the home of the hosts on Habersham road and assembled a group of close friends of the honor guests.

Earlier in the day, Miss Clayton was central figure at the small luncheon given by Mrs. V. W. McKinney at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Colorful spring flowers decorated the luncheon table, and covers were laid for eight close friends of the honoree and hostess.

Augusta Masters' Opens Today With Nelson, Snead 7-1 Favorites

Jones Is Given 50-to-1 Chance; Hogan Rated 8-1

Lawson Little Turns in Second Straight Practice Round of 68.

By AL SHARP.
AUGUSTA NATIONAL GOLF CLUB, AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2.—Lawson Little, National Open champion, had the gallery and the press talking to themselves here this afternoon as he turned in his second straight 68 on the eve of the Masters' tournament.

Little, who turned pro here five years ago after winning the American and British Amateur championships twice in a row, duplicated his 4-under-par score of yesterday as he and Dick Chapman, National Amateur titleholder, put together a 6-under-par 90 on the back side. Chapman had a 69.

Also shooting a 68 this afternoon was Jimmy Demaret, whose total of 280 took last year's tourney.

Horton Smith, two-time winner of the Masters, had a 69, and Ben Hogan, winter circuit leader, also was 3 under par.

PAR TAKES BEATING.
Jug McSpaden, who won the Thomasville meet, had a 71 today. Craig Wood, Winged Foot pro, who rates high on the list of possible winners, played two rounds, getting a 70 and 71. Byron Nelson was even par.

Bob Jones was around in 73 this afternoon as he and Tommy Armour finished all square with Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen in a replay of the recent Nassau match.

There were so many conceded putts that it was hard to keep an accurate card on the match. Armour and Jones went three up on the first nine, but Hagen and Sarazen came back with birdies on the 10th, 12th and 15th to win those holes and square the match.

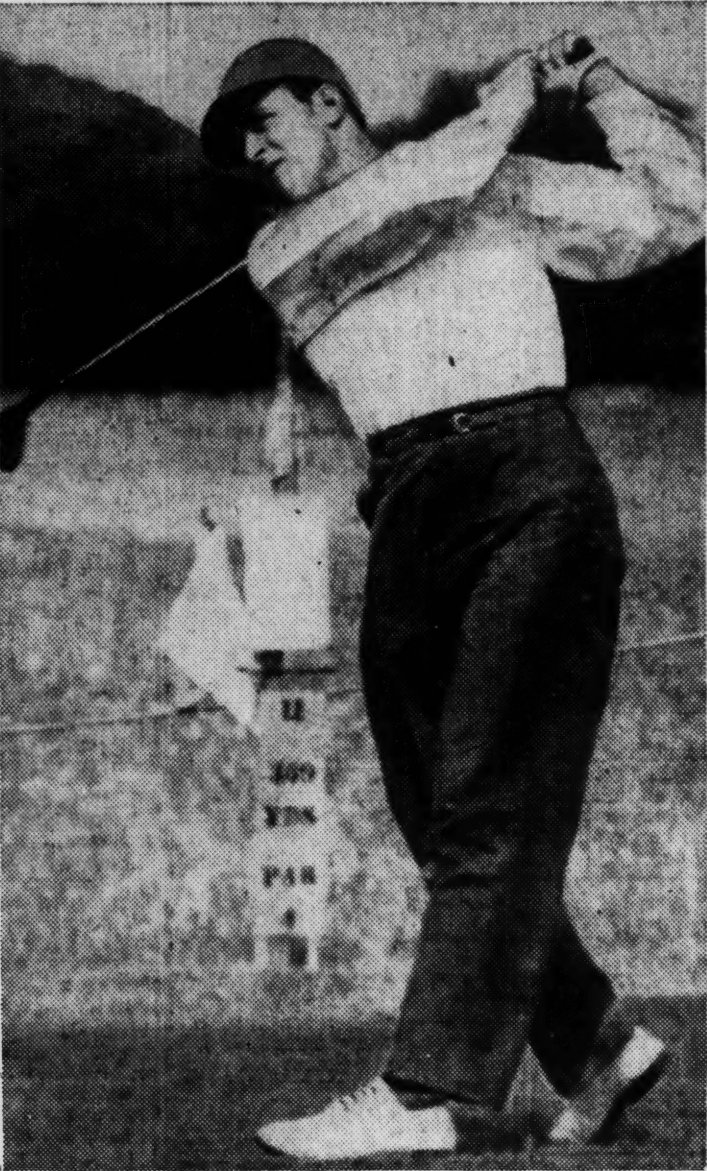

Charlie Yates, who had a 70 yesterday, was around in 73 this afternoon.

STARTS AT 1 O'CLOCK.
Tomorrow's opening round will start at 1 o'clock.

Jones, paired with Demaret, will tee off at 1:45, and Yates, playing with Ed Dudley, will start shooting at 1:55.

Byron Nelson, former winner here, and Sam Snead were the 7-to-1 favorites as the field finished practice.

Old Mike Has Been Lost Before; Pointer Missing Since Monday

Old Fellow Went for a Stroll, Celebrating Advent of Spring; Companion Returns.

By JOHN MARTIN.
Old Mike found out about the calendar. He read it and followed frivolous and flippant Pat through the gate and went for a stroll—celebrating the advent of spring.

Just a harmless gallop through the street and a cut back into the yard at 454 Seminole avenue wouldn't matter, this pair of pointers agreed. That was late Monday afternoon. Pat is back. He wound up on Virginia avenue, over a mile away, and somebody roped him and brought him in.

Old Mike, a white and lemon pointer, still hasn't come back. And nobody has called to bring the glad tidings that he has been found. A would-be bird hunter—two or three times a season—is fretting over it. In fact, he's worrying over a pretty good bird dog.

Old Mike has been through the grind. He has been lost and found before. Gentleman John Mauldin brought him back. He has tackled an A model Ford and come from under it with his life. He has licked distemper and tonsillitis, mange and fleas. A crop of ticks gathered in south Georgia failed to stop him.

Old Mike is a hardy specimen. He's getting too old for it, but he still likes to play with puppies and youngsters. And he didn't know any better than to follow Pat for a stroll.

He should be somewhere around Little Five Points. He is properly tagged with tax and rabies treatments. He wears a greasy black collar with the following inscription: JOHN MARTIN, 412 STATE CAPITOL, REWARD. He isn't that valuable, and he's a "cold-blood." But he's a good hunting pal. And you know what that means.

Anyone reporting the whereabouts of Old Mike will get their reward and in addition a free trip to the best trout stream in north Georgia, a hunting trip to south Georgia next winter and whatever else they can want from a fellow who wants his dog back.

Mrs. Pollard Wins Event at Piedmont
Forty-two Metropolitan women golfers took advantage of Wednesday's weather and played over the Piedmont course. Mrs. Warren Pollard won first place with 46 strokes for the sealed nine event.

Mrs. M. V. Larned was second with a 47. Mrs. Max Mentzer proved to be the best putter of the day with 27 putts for the 18 holes. Others who won put prizes were Mrs. Henry Hubbard with a 30. Mrs. Warren Pollard also had a 30 and Mrs. H. S. Rawlings and Mrs. A. C. Baird won next with 32's.

In a special surprise event, an approaching contest to the 18th green, Mrs. J. H. Gailbrath came within 33 inches of the pin from a fairway shot. Mrs. Ruth Hennessey was second, being 54 inches away. Special prizes went to Mrs. Joe Varela, Mrs. Edwin Mugford, Miss Margaret Sanford and Mrs. J. J. Garrett.

Butts 'Works Off' Throat Soreness
Football coaches, it seems, should get enough exercise in the ordinary course of events. Nevertheless, Coach Wally Butts, University of Georgia coach, was in town yesterday and took a workout at Daly's.

The "little round man" of the Bulldog coaching staff said it wasn't exercise he needed, but that he was bothered with a sore throat. After a salt bath, steam and alcohol rubdown, he left Atlanta feeling much better.

All in The Game

Consistency A year ago Jimmy Demaret, called the Houston Hurricane, having been the most consistent golfer on the winter circuit, won the Masters' tournament with a snappy 280.

After his victory in the Masters, Demaret was hailed as one of the great modern golfers. He had won half the winter tournaments. And he won the Masters' despite a rather violent attack of ptomaine poisoning. One must admire a man who can accomplish anything with a stomach ache.

The only two athletes who have done it successfully (with publicity) are Demaret and Babe Ruth.

If consistency really is a jewel, as it proved to be in Demaret's case, Ben Hogan ought to cash in this time at Augusta.

The welterweight wallower from Texas has been in the money in the last 45 consecutive tournaments, and it is significant, perhaps, that he has hit championship stride just prior to the Masters'.

When Hogan won the Asheville tournament the other day, it was his first victory in medal play since the same tournament the year before.

Hogan blazed a scorching trail leading up to the Masters' last year. In fact, he was too hot to hold such a pace indefinitely.

He won three tournaments in a row—Pinehurst (277), Greensboro (270) and Asheville (273).

Hogan was hotter than a blow torch, but he was cooled off at Augusta, as so many famous golfers are. Hogan finished in a tie for tenth place with Tony Penna. His 72-hole total was 290.

It has been a little different on the winter circuit this time. There haven't been any real standouts. Only Sammy Snead has won as many as two tournaments. So the wins have been widely scattered as the pros have rambled from California to North Carolina.

Still, each time the money was passed out, Hogan was there to get a share. He's been as consistent a money winner as the game has seen.

Still on Map Texas is still on the map in golf. Besides Demaret, the defending champion, the Lone Star State claims two of the three outstanding favorites in the 1941 Masters' tournament.

They are Hogan, who weighs as much as 140 pounds soaking wet, and Lord Byron Nelson. Sammy Snead, another well-liked entry, hails from the hills of West Virginia.

Somehow, though, things are shaping up too much like a Kentucky Derby.

The boys pick out two or three horses and keep harping on them. Finally, there just aren't any other horses in the field. The rest are all platers.

All I've been reading about for this tournament, it seems like, is how Hogan or Nelson or Snead will come crashing through.

And I'm beginning to wonder if there aren't some rather fine candidates in the field besides these. I mean somebody like Lawson Little, who's best when the chips are down; Lloyd Mangrum, Ed Dudley; Horton Smith, Craig wood, Ralph Guldahl, et al.

It has been just 11 years now since Bob Jones retired after bagging 13 titles in the last eight years of his reign.

The best Jones has finished in the Masters is 13th. That was in the inaugural year—1934. He is combination competitor and host—and still the main attraction.

Dudley Is Deadly It occurs to me that Ed Dudley, popular Augusta pro, has been knocking around the top quite regularly in the last few Masters'.

Last year Dudley was seven strokes away from Demaret, as he finished in fourth place. Not bad. He was in the first 10 the year before. And the two years before that he was sixth and third, respectively.

In 1936 he was eighth.

In the very first year of the tournament Dudley was fifth.

Rhodes Dinner Is Set Tonight

The annual Joe Rhodes Memorial dinner will be held tonight at 7 o'clock at the Capital City Club.

The dinner is given in memory of the famous old Georgia Tech football fan and is attended by the Yellow Jacket team and a few close followers.

It's one of the most enjoyable affairs of the year and is always looked forward to with a great deal of enthusiasm by players and supporters alike.

Lookouts Obtain Nat First Sacker

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 2.—(P)—The Chattanooga Lookouts obtained First Baseman Jack Sanford from Washington today subject to 24-hour recall.

Acquisition of Sanford gives the club a surplus of first sackers. Ted Mueller, property of the Lookouts, probably will be sent to the outfield while Sanford and Les Powers, obtained from Milwaukee, compete for the regular job.

Sanford was with Charlotte last season, batting .317 and driving in 69 runs.

HEADED FOR THE WIRE

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2.—The pick of the world's finest golfers are now headed for the wire over this flower-bordered course of the Augusta National. This is the end of a 10,000-mile assault against par, from ocean to ocean and back again. This Masters' tournament, sponsored by that 39-year-old veteran, Bobby Jones, is one of the season's classics.

As they get under way Thursday, trying to pick the winner is an even tougher job than winning the tournament.

It is double-tough at this time for an added reason. Starting with the L. A. Open in early January the list of winners has included Bulla, Dodson, Revolta, Snead, Oliver, Little, Picard, McSpaden, Smith and Hogan, with Hogan well in front as the leading money winner, plus a victory in his last start, coming from behind. It has all been a dizzy swirl of changing headlines, outside of Ben Hogan's greater consistency.

The destruction of par has broken all records, but there has been an ever-shifting flow of winning names all over the map, a case of "pease porridge hot, pease porridge cold."

Picking the Winner

Under these conditions, trying to pick the winner has the experts badly baffled. Some of them have resorted to thermometers in trying to locate the temperatures of those who might be hot. Or cold. Or just temperate.

In the leading group they have

Marshall Homers, Driving in 3 Runs, But Crackers Lose, 9 to 4

Emil Mailho Only Cracker Getting 2 Hits

Ventura, Kersieck To Face Montreal at Macon Today.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY, Assistant Sports Editor.

THOMASTON, Ga., April 2.—Willard Marshall celebrated his return to the Cracker lineup after a week's absence because of a strep throat with a home run which drove across three runs, but Montreal defeated Atlanta, 9 to 4, before a crowd of 1,000 colorful fans here today.

Marshall played five innings of the game and grounded out and walked on other two trips to the plate. Charlie Waddell replaced him in left field.

Again the Crackers couldn't find their batting eyes. They got only five hits off the combined offerings of Pap Rambert, the old Knoxville star; Bill Sample and Spencer Smith. Rambert was touched for four of them and all the runs. On the other hand, the Royals blasted Charlie Burgess for 13 hits and nine runs during his seven-inning stay on the mound. Ed Nowak pitched the last two and allowed no runs and two hits.

MAILHO GETS 2 HITS. Emil Mailho was the only Cracker to get more than one hit. He got a double and a single while the other three blows were scattered among Marshall, Ryan and Ferrera.

George Staller was the big gun of the Royals. He collected four hits in five trips, including a home run over the right field fence. Packy Rogers and First Baseman Fash also got two hits each for Montreal.

The third game of the series will be played tomorrow in Macon, training site of the Royals. Vince Ventura and Wayman Kersieck will do the pitching for the Crackers. The series now stands at one game all. The final tilt also is slated for Macon on Friday.

RYAN'S FIELDING GEM. Connie Ryan pulled the fielding gem of the day, dashing far back of second base to grab Rojek's hard grounder in the third and force Rogers at second base.

Montreal tied off on Burgess for four runs in the first inning. Bell walked and Jensen singled to start it. Staller lined a single to center, scoring Bell. Fash doubled to right, scoring Jensen and sending Staller to third. Jungman flied to Thomassie and Staller scored after the catch. Fash taking third to score on Rogers' single to center.

Marshall's long home run over the right center field fence with Thomassie, who had walked, and Mailho who had doubled, on base, gave the Crackers three runs in their half of the inning.

Ferrera's single, Burgess' sacrifice and Mailho's single to right tied it up 4-4 in the second.

Staller's home run over the right field fence gave the Royals a one-run lead in the third.

Montreal got to Burgess for four more runs in the seventh. Staller singled to center and Fash was safe when Ryan stopped his grounder, but couldn't pick it up. Jungman beat out a bunt to load the bases. Rogers flied to Oates, Staller scoring after the catch. Rojek forced Jungman at second but Becker tripped to right, scoring Rojek and Fash. Becker scored a minute later when Burman beat out a hit to second, making the score 9 to 4.

ABEL-LEONARD FEUD AGAIN—A "retake" of a boxing match was fought here in December, 1919, is scheduled Monday night at the city auditorium with Jake Abel, left, one of the few Atlantans who ever made boxing's "big time," slated to battle Benny Leonard, who retired as undefeated lightweight champion in 1925 after holding the world's title for eight years. The picture above was taken here in 1925 when Leonard visited his former opponent.

Thesz Throws Young Villmer; Roche in Draw

Heavyweight wrestling returned to Atlanta with a bang last night at the city auditorium, an appreciative crowd applauding Promoter Abe Simon's first offering of the season. New holds and new faces were presented, and from a standpoint of entertainment, the show was a sure-fire success.

Lou Thesz, former world's champion, proved he still is one of the greatest stars of the day as he outclassed Young Ray Villmer in the headliner, winning in straight falls, which lasted 26 and 10 minutes, respectively.

Smooth and poised as an eel on defense, Thesz held the other hand throughout, using a series of crushing headlocks, which left his foe wobbling.

So formidable did the Hungarian appear that Simon revealed he would bring in Everett Marshall, himself a former champ, to do battle with Thesz in next week's feature.

Dorv Roche and Ray Eckert, a rugged big boy with a villainous complex, wrestled to an hour draw, each winning a fall. Roche was held in a series of headlocks for 11 minutes before he wriggled free during the first fall.

Bill Lee broke most of the rules and finally got himself disqualified in a one-fall match with Jack Kennedy which lasted 14 minutes.

Harry Kent's boomerang hold pinned Joe Millich in the opener, after 22 minutes of fast grappling.

West Fulton Nine Pounds Clarkston

West Fulton defeated Clarkston, 13 to 7, yesterday at the Clarkston diamond. Every player on the West Fulton nine slugged out a triple except Hogg, and he secured a double and two singles as his teammates pounded a total of 23 base hits.

Leading hitters for West Fulton were Walraven with three out of four, two being triples; Griswell, with four for six, two triples, and Dodd, with three for five, including a double and triple.

'Waivers Secured on Bill Lee; Nobody Wants Him'-Gallagher

'Next Move Up to Pitcher,' Says Cub General Manager; Calls Proposed Herman Deal a Joke.

By HAROLD FOREMAN, Home News Bureau Statistician.

Jim Gallagher, general manager of the Chicago Cubs, stopped in Atlanta yesterday afternoon on his way back to Chicago. He has been making the rounds of some of the Cubs' and Tulsa farms since he left California about a week ago.

When asked about holdouts Bill Lee and Jim Leiber, Gallagher intimated that the Cubs could get along very well without them if necessary.

"Lee did not answer my last letter," said Gallagher, "and the next move is up to him. We believe we have been more than fair, and if he desires to stay out of baseball this season, we will manage to get along without him very well. After all, a nine-and-seventeen record hardly fits in with a pennant winning club, especially when we are loaded down with so many good rookies."

Gallagher predicted that the Cubs would have the best infield in the National League this season. "Stringer is the best looking rookie to come up in years. He's a wonderful fielder, a good hitter, and has plenty of nerve. Waitkus looks fine on first and could easily push Rip Russell out of that job. Herman looks better than ever and has his old spirit back. Hack is still tops at third. This young Sturgeon could hold down the utility job on any club. And don't forget we have Billy Myers to fall back on as well as Rabbit Warstler."

Waivers have been secured on Bill Lee but no club has shown any desire to have him, not even Tulsa, Gallagher stated. Gallagher has not been approached by Larry McPhail in regards to any trades since last December. "This story about letting Herman go for a little or nothing is a joke. He is still the best second baseman in the league and any club that wants him will have to pay plenty."

Lee To Seek Salary Settlement.

CHICAGO, April 2.—(AP)—The Chicago Daily News said today that Bill Lee, Chicago Cubs pitcher who has been a determined holdout against salary reduction, will come to Chicago next week to attempt to settle his dispute with the National League Club.

The Daily News, reaching Lee by telephone at his home in Plaquemine, La., quoted the hurler as saying he had heard nothing from the Cubs of the possibility of his being sent to Tulsa of the Texas League.

"If I didn't want to go to Chicago for $10,000, I wouldn't want to go to Tulsa for what they would offer," he said.

So he has made a most respectable showing and who's to say he might not win the Masters' one year?

Closing Change A. S. Hargett, secretary-manager of the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' Association, doesn't want housewives to get caught short in their shopping plans next week. Stores will be closed Thursday afternoon, instead of Wednesday, in observance of the opening day of the baseball season here.

Mr. Hargett writes—
"At the request of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Atlanta Baseball Club, the retail grocers of Atlanta have agreed to close their stores on Thursday afternoon, April 10, for the occasion."

"You are possibly aware of the Wednesday afternoon closing custom in Atlanta, and can imagine the difficulty to be encountered when such a change is made. An announcement would be helpful to the consumers who are accustomed to shopping early on Wednesdays and will insure their knowledge before the 10th."

In the Groove I'd like to go on record right now with a prediction that Jennings (The Jinx) Pindexter will be one of the Southern League's ace pitchers this summer.

Jinx justified everything nice that's been written about him by shutting the door in the Montreal Royals' face for eight innings Tuesday. The Royals, in most cases, couldn't have hit him with a paddle. Pindexter's just naturally a fine pitcher—and at long last he has made up his mind to pitch. That's the main thing.

Nelson, Snead 7-1 Favorites

"Official odds" were Ben Hogan, leading money winner of the year, and National Open Champion Lawson Little at 8 to 1.

Jimmy Demaret, who won last year with 240, was in the 10-to-1 bracket with Horton Smith, who has taken the title twice; Craig Wood, Harry Cooper, Vic Ghezzi and Ed Dudley, home pro who holds the lowest scoring average for the seven tournaments.

SARAZEN 15-1

Johnny Bulla and Sam Byrd were 12-to-1 choices, with Ralph Guldahl and Gene Sarazen, two other former Masters' champions, rating as 15-to-1 shots.

Henry Picard, the other ex-champion will not be here this year. He has switched from Hershey to Oklahoma City and does not plan to compete in many tournaments.

Bob Jones, against whom the odds were 50 to 1 winning the British amateur and open and the American amateur and open, is rated a 50-to-1 chance in this meet 11 years after he pulled the grand slam.

Charlie Yates, former British amateur champion, is a co-favorite with Dick Chapman, national amateur titleholder, in the Simon-pure division, the odds are 6 to 1 on both.

Brown Kayoed In 3d Round Of Hostak Tilt

SEATTLE, April 2.—(UP)—The road to the NBA—middleweight boxing championship, already trodden twice by Al Hostak, of Seattle, resounded to the tramp of his feet for a third time today.

Hostak, 161, scored a three-round technical knockout over Ben Brown, 163 1-2, Atlanta, Ga., last night before an indoor crowd which Promoter Nate Druxman estimated at 7,500.

The end came in 1:07 of the third, after two fairly even rounds. A flurry of rights shook up the southerner and a right to the jaw sent him down for a nine-count.

Brown wobbled to his feet and tried to cover up. He went down for a one-count.

He hopped up quickly and tried to cover up again, but Hostak exploded another right to the chin and Referee Tommy Clark stopped the bout.

planted Sammy Sneed, Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson with Lawson Little, Horton Smith, Jimmy Demaret, Craig Wood and Gene Sarazen not so far away. And there is also Ed Dudley.

So far the Masters' has been won by Horton Smith (twice), Gene Sarazen, Henry Picard, Byron Nelson, Ralph Guldahl and Jimmy Demaret. All of these, barring only Picard, are here again on the firing line.

Such fine golfers as Sneed, Hogan, Wood, Cooper and Little have never been able to break through. But these are not the only good golfers swinging clubs through this 80-year-old Belgian nursery, flanked with the flaming flowers of young April in one of the most gorgeous settings that golf knows dogwood, pink and white; azaleas, camellias, oaks, magnolias, maples and pines. They even have a cork tree here.

SHE LOVED A SPY

Paul Mysteriously Avoids Joan; Karl Hires New Singer For His Club

By Sylvia Taylor

SYNOPSIS.
Synopsis of preceding chapters: Sybil, who shares a San Francisco apartment, loses her job the same day. Joan answers an ad and at a North Beach night club Karl Miller hires her as secretary at $50 a week, and pays her two weeks in advance. He is a handsome, now-entirely-built man, with a trace of foreign accent, and Joan finds him fascinating. Sybil thinks there's something shady about the Club Elite and wants Joan to quit, but she accepts a beauty show job. As Joan is thanking Karl for his help, he takes her in his arms and kisses her. His manager, Paul Sherman, appears just then and she is resentful when Paul warns her later to watch her step. She notices that Paul shadows her and Karl, and Paul warns her that Karl will never marry her, but soon Karl introduces Eric Strom as his silent partner, they talk in German and Karl asks her to leave the room. She hears a shot, returns to find Strom dead, and in front of Paul. Karl accuses her of the murder. Karl admits he is a spy, says Strom tried to double-cross him, warns Joan not to notify the police and tells her he has a wife in Germany. He says she will be kept under guard and drives her home. She finds a note from Sybil stating "something terrible" has happened and her phone wires are cut. Entering by a rear window, explains he was silent when Karl accused her because he is Paul O'Malley, a FBI man.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

Hurriedly they collected their wraps and left the hotel. "Sorry to break up your evening this way," Paul told her and Joan could see that he was troubled. She had never seen Paul look quite so serious.

"Can't you tell me what it is?" she begged.

"I'd rather not, Joan, and I have another favor to ask. Would you mind if I took you home? I want to trail Karl and find out where that girl lives."

"Of course! But I'll go home in a taxi," Joan said practically. "They might leave any minute." He pressed her hand. "You're a grand sport!"

"Good luck," Joan called as she climbed into a taxi which bore her swiftly home. What was wrong with Paul? What was his connection with this lovely girl? Karl had been looking at her with the same tenderness that he had once used with Joan. How easy it must be for him to turn on and off this false charm, which seemed so sincere and instead was so deadly. It had wrung her heart to see the way this other girl looked at Karl. Her eyes so full of enchantment. Yet Joan was not jealous. Pity and alarm were her only emotions.

Even so she slept well that night. She felt that she had turned a new page in her life. This year would find her a wiser girl. She would be better able to cope with life, to face it with new courage and understanding.

On New Year's Day Paul did not come to see her and Joan was surprised. She was anxious to know the story of Karl's companion, and was worried for fear some accident had befallen Paul. She knew now that Karl Miller would stop at nothing.

But when Monday came Paul

Sherman did not call for her as usual. Instead, Karl himself drove her to the club. Joan dared not inquire about Paul but she felt uneasy. Karl did not offer any explanation. He seemed in good spirits.

Joan worked hard that afternoon. In vain she tried to read some hidden meaning into the letters that Karl dictated, but though some of them did not make sense to her, she could find nothing incriminating. Karl must be using a code but Joan had saved copies of letters and Paul had not, as yet, been able to decipher them.

"By the way," Karl told her, "I am hiring a new singer for the band. Draw up a contract. She will be in later."

Even then Joan was not prepared for the sight of the same slim, lovely girl who had been Karl's dancing companion.

She came in the door a little shyly, but Joan recognized the happy look in her eyes. Joan had once looked that way. Her heart went out to this girl. She couldn't be a day over 17.

"Won't you sit down?" Joan asked pleasantly. "Mr. Miller will be back in a few minutes."

The girl sat down primly and looked around with admiration. She was dressed in a brown suit and sports hat. Her brown hair hung softly to her shoulders. Her brown eyes were wide and childlike.

"Mr. Miller tells me that you are going to sing here," she said. "Yes, my name is Pat Hines," Joan fancied that she hesitated as she spoke her name. "Do you live here?" she asked.

Pat dropped her eyes. "I came from Los Angeles," she explained briefly, adding with enthusiasm, "I'm so grateful to Mr. Miller. He's been wonderful to me. I don't know how I would ever have gotten a job. It was really just luck. You see I noticed his advertisement in the paper for a singer. And I applied and Mr. Miller said I was just what he was looking for."

Joan's green eyes narrowed. So Karl was playing his little game again. Did he want Pat to replace her in his affections, and incidentally become a part of his vicious business? Joan, looking at Pat's happy face, wondered that only a few months ago she herself had been fool enough to fall into Karl's trap.

"How old are you?" Joan asked thoughtfully.

For the second time the girl hesitated. "Nineteen," Joan sighed, sure that she was lying. If only there were something she could do or say to warn this girl. But what? She dared not risk Karl's disapproval now. Too much was at stake. Paul and Sybil! She could not take the chance. She turned back to her typing while Pat sat waiting with an enraptured expression on her face.

Those few minutes did more to cure Joan of her former infatuation with Karl than anything else. Seeing Pat, as she herself had been—seeing Karl playing the same game again—gave her a clearer picture of the situation. "I'm cured!" Joan thought triumphantly, and she typed away furiously, taking out her resentment on the typewriter.

Karl came in almost immediately, smiling as he saw Pat waiting for him. "The orchestra leader tells me your audition was very satisfactory," he said, taking her hand.

Pat left the office with Karl, clinging to his arm, radiant-eyed. "And to think," Joan said savagely to herself, "that I looked like that once!"

That evening she had made an appointment at Mrs. Murdock's beauty salon, according to Paul's instructions, during the two hours she had off for dinner. If she hurried she could make it.

She found the Ritz Beauty Salon an elaborate establishment and an efficient operator arranged her hair with capable fingers. As she sat under the drier she glanced around curiously, but could see nothing unusual. To all appearance this was no different from any other beauty shop of its kind.

When her hair was dry, Joan inquired the way to Mrs. Murdock's private office. "I'd like to speak to her a moment," she explained to the girl at the desk.

Mrs. Murdock did not seem pleased at Joan's visit. She regarded the girl through narrowed eyes, saying, "This is quite a surprise."

"I feel that I owe you an apology," Joan said, pleasantly. "I was so upset when you came to see me. I hope you understand."

As she spoke her eyes took in the room. There seemed to be nothing strange here either. It was a nicely decorated room, beige rugs, paneled walls and Venetian blinds. "I know you'll excuse me," Mrs. Murdock explained, "but I'm frightfully busy. It was nice of you to come. I hope you'll be a regular customer."

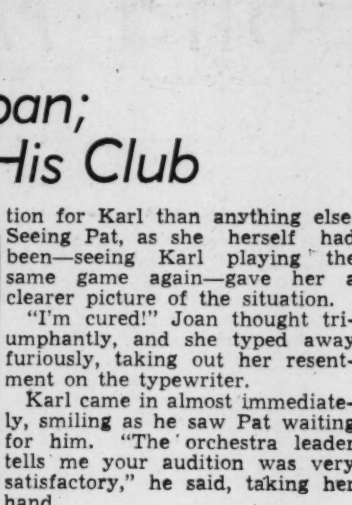

Joan replied courteously and left feeling that her visit had been a failure. If Paul had expected her to find out anything about the Ritz Beauty Salon he would be disappointed.

Joan stopped at a drug store for a sandwich and a cup of coffee. It was all the dinner she would have time for tonight. She was sitting at the counter staring into the broad mirror behind the fountain when she saw Pat Hines come in. Joan turned and called to her, "Oh, Miss Hines!"

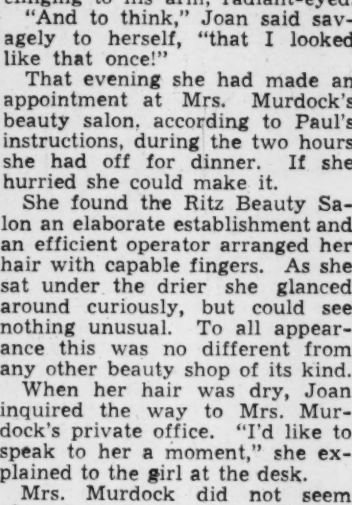

The girl did not reply. "Pat!" Joan said.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES). Harmonious vibrations operate before 12:40 noon for pleasant and profitable contacts in finances, news and communication. Between 3:30 p. m. and 8:07 p. m. you are likely to feel perplexed and disturbed. A good period to stick to routine. After 8:07 p. m. is an excellent time for making definite decisions and finishing up matters that have already been started.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS). This is a day when you should not allow even slight disagreements to develop, for they will likely rebound to your disfavor. Business and professional changes are not especially favored.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI). Do not try to overdo your strength today. Watch your health. Many of the difficulties encountered today may be caused through forgetfulness and high tension. An excellent day to stick to routine.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER). The entire day and evening favors financial, domestic, social and business interests. The hours between 2:04 p. m. and 7:04 p. m. are especially good.

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO). The morning hours and until 11:14 a. m. favors important plans, dealings with those in authority, buying, selling, trading and matters connected with art. After 11:14 a. m. favors dealings with organizations and for working on affairs that have a systematic foundation.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO). Harmonious vibrations operate before 12:40 p. m. for pleasant and profitable contacts in finances, domestic affairs and business.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA). The morning hours and until 1:41 p. m. favors business, domestic and social affairs. After 1:41 p. m. headstrong tendencies should be curbed. The period does not especially favor new beginnings or important undertakings.

New Arkansas Senator Given Oath by Wallace

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—Lloyd Spencer, 47-year-old self-styled "country banker" and farmer from Hope, Ark., was sworn in today as a United States senator. Spencer was escorted by his colleague, Senator Hattie W. Caraway, to the chair where Vice President Wallace administered the oath. Spencer's appointment by Governor Homer M. Adkins, of Arkansas, arrived this morning. He succeeds John E. Miller, who resigned yesterday at Fort Smith, Ark., where he was sworn in as federal judge for the western district of Arkansas. Both are Democrats.

NEW ROTARY HEAD.
COCHRAN, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—L. S. Leach is new president of the Cochran Rotary Club. Retiring President R. H. Peacock, will be vice president.

Zoo Who's Who:

It is almost springtime in the zoo. Atlanta's home for its wild animals is in Grant Park and to it go thousands each year to see its inhabitants. These daily stories about "Who's Who in the Zoo" are to help you get better acquainted with Atlanta's charges from the jungle. Today we introduce:

THE WATER BUFFALO.

The Indian water buffalo (Bubalus bubalis) has been domesticated and introduced into southern Europe, parts of Africa, eastern Asia, and many of the East Indian islands. Many come from the Philippine Islands, where the animal is called the carabao and is in quite general use. This buffalo sometimes grows to an immense size and specimens have been reported that were as high as 8 1/2 feet at the shoulder. The horns vary in the several wild races and domestic breeds and are sometimes very large, curled in a crescentic form, or directed widely outward, when they may measure nearly six feet from tip to tip. In the British Museum is a pair of horns which measure 77 3/8 inches in length. Smaller related species are native to Celebes and Mindoro.

These animals today, by and large, are inhabitants of the Philippine Islands and are used as beasts of burden in their own country. They are wild buffaloes still found on the islands. The one pictured above, the sole member of the zoo, lives on the hill behind the cat house all alone. He is valued at $1,650.

Research Bill Seen as Aid to Businessmen

Regional Information Chief Explains Plan To Use University.

If the Shepherd-Robinson bill passes the national house and senate, it will help state universities to do a lot of research work which will be of immense value to the nation and to the "little fellows" interested in export and import business who can't afford handling their own research.

So said, yesterday, Charles Clifton Fichtner, chief of the division of Regional Information of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

He was spending the day with C. Parker Persons, district manager of that bureau, in his Rhodes building offices. He had conferred at luncheon with Dr. R. P. Brooks, of the University of Georgia, who was enthusiastic over the plan.

The Shepherd-Robinson bill proposes to use state universities—including the University of Georgia—as a basis for research work for business folk interested in foreign trade—especially with South America.

It will provide $20,000 a year for each institution—and more if it is matched by private subscription or state funds.

It will pay for a group of four or five experts and office help—and take care of expenses for advanced students engaged in finding the facts and collating them.

Fichtner, until recently, was dean of the School of Business Administration of the University of Arkansas. He is president of the National Association of State University-Schools of Business. A Harvard graduate, he also attended the University of Lyons, France. He was a lieutenant in the first World War.
